Sealed Ballot Box Is Opened in School Vote

A special meeting was held Thursday at the Woodstock School for the purpose of opening the sealed ballot box of the April 13, 1957 referendum on the decision to annex Woodstock School District No. 2 to the Ontario Central School District. The poll lists and challenge affidavits were taken out of the box and examined, as ordered by James E. Allen Jr., commissioner of education for the State of New York.

The ballot box was opened at 11:35 a. m. by Mrs. Warren Huty, school district clerk, and superintendent of schools, Reginald R. Bennett, in the home economics room of the Woodstock School.

Proposes Copies

John Egan, attorney, stated: "To avoid the necessity of moving we are going to make photostatic copies in duplicate of the poll lists and challenge affidavits. Therefore the poll lists shall be left with the clerk, Mrs. Huty." He also said that one of the photostatic copies would be given to Ernest E. Schirmer, attorney for the Woodstock Committee for Ontario Centralization.

"This is part of the public record," Mr. Bennett said. The ballot box was resealed by Mrs. Huty and Mr. Bennett, after the necessary papers had been taken out.

27 Challenges

Mrs. Huty then opened the envelope containing the challenge affidavits which were counted for a total of 27. The challengees' names were then called out as follows: Helen Fletcher, Jack Felshuh, Katherine T. Jetter, Esther Tolka, Marjorie Morrell, Mrs. Harrison Muller, Jacob L. Redstone, Lillian E. Redstone, Peter Carlson, Richard Stillwell, Barbara Balinski, Ord Morrell, John Krieger, Annette Martin, Chester Nicponski, Katherine Fouhy, Charlotte Robbins, Benjamin Kopp, Ann E. Kopp, Samuel T. Kamen and Morris Nemzer.

Copies of the challenge affidavits were also photostated in duplicate.

Those Present

Present at the meeting beside Mr. Bennett and Mrs. Huty were: John Egan, Esq.; Daniel L. Lamb, Esq.; Ernest E. Schirmer, Esq.; (all attorneys); Warren Huty, Lewis R. Wilson, Robert Gordon, Woodstock School Dist. No. 2 trustee; E. A. Jurist, Earl Christiana, Mrs. Gerald Green, Anthony De Lizio, Mrs. Paul Godwin, Mrs. Howard Umhey, Walter S. Van Wageningen, school principal, and Clarence Snyder, town constable.

Medical Society Sees Adjustment Of Doctor's Bill

Manorville, N. Y., June 21 (AP)—A medical society spokesman said today he believed there would be a speedy and satisfactory adjustment of a doctor's $1,500 bill for services during and after the dramatic rescue of Benny Hooper Jr. from a well five weeks ago.

Both the boy's parents and the physician, Dr. Joseph H. Kris, have indicated willingness to place the matter before the mediation committee of the Suffolk County Medical Society, the spokesman said.

Unfortunate Event

"It's unfortunate that this whole thing developed in this fashion as an ending to what was a happy event for all concerned—the rescue of Benny," said Dr. Philip J. Raffae.

Any Payoff Data Should Be Turned In, Doyle Says

Samuel Doyle, president of the Ulster-Sullivan Building Trades Council, said today that any evidence of payoffs to unions on area water works projects should be forwarded to him or put in the hands of the proper authorities.

The statement was made at a meeting here of the council this morning at which it was decided that the council would call off pickets on a project at Cannonsville.

C. H. "Hank" Mayer, business agent of Local 17, International Hod Carriers & Laborers Union, had suggested earlier this month that the U. S. Senate's rackets committee, should probe the possibility of a "million dollar boodle" payoff to unions on the water works projects.

Anyone with any information as to payoffs, Doyle said, should bring it to him or to the authorities, and no charges or statements should be made without evidence.

Pickets from the council were ordered off the Cannonsville job, but it was indicated that any particular union, which felt entitled to, could continue picketing. Picketing began after reports that non-union workmen were used on water works jobs in the area.

Any single union, which felt violated, could continue picketing, it was decided, but the council would no longer continue picketing.

9 Die, 85 Hurt By Big Tornado

Fargo, N. D., Damage Is Many Millions With Devastation Covering 20 Blocks

Fargo, N. D., June 21 (AP)—A giant tornado, striking from a lethal cloud tower more than 10 miles high, smashed through 100 blocks of a Fargo residential area last night, bringing death to nine persons—six of them the children of one family.

At least 85 more were injured, some critically. The massive, black funnel lashed a swath of devastation 20 blocks long and five wide.

Six From 1 Family

The dead included all six children of the Gerald Munson family. They ranged in age from one to 12. The mother was hospitalized for shock.

The ninth victim died early this morning. She was Lois Ann, 2, second youngest Munson daughter.

The other dead were three adults—two men and a woman. At least three persons, two of them children, were listed as missing.

Two of the adult dead were identified as Don Titgen, 26, and Mrs. Max Kankelwitz, about 56. The other man was tentatively identified as Mrs. Kankelwitz' husband, also about 56. Mutilation made identification difficult.

Search for Victims

Titgen's wife and two adopted children, about 8 and 9 years old were listed as missing.

National Guard troops ordered into Fargo by Gov. John Davis, police and volunteers searched the devastated area at daylight for other possible victims. More than 200 homes were leveled or heavily damaged by the deadly blow. Many others bore scars of the huge twister.

Warned of Funnel

The tornado did not come without warning. Hundreds of residents saw the twister approaching over the prairie and fled the city. Radio stations had broadcast tornado warnings.

Eye witnesses said they watched the huge funnel for up to 30 minutes before it struck the northwest corner of town about 7:40 p. m.

Mayor Hershel Lashkowitz said early today that damage would be "many millions of dollars."

Cars, Trucks Smashed

In addition to the homes destroyed or damaged, many cars and trucks were smashed, tossed into the air and slammed to the ground by the powerful funnel.

Gov. Davis ordered 200 North Dakota National Guard troops to Fargo at the request of Mayor Lashkowitz. They hurried to the scene from summer camp at Devils Lake, N. D., under high-way patrol escort.

Fargo, with 40,000 residents is the largest city in North Dakota, located in the billiard-flat Red river valley, noted for its rich farm crops.

School, Church Wrecked

The twister wrecked immense Shanley High School and the nearby American Lutheran Church.

Richard Rasmussen, Associated Press staffer who lives near where the twister struck, said he and neighbors watched the black cloud forming an estimated 10 miles west of Fargo.

"It looked like an elongated triangle lying on its side," Rasmussen said. "As it came closer, we could see the funnel begin to form. From a mile away it (Continued on Page 6, Col. 4)

Police Have Two New Physicians, May Remove Ties

A uniform regulation to permit more summer comfort for local patrolmen was adopted by the Board of Police Commissioners yesterday.

The board also named Dr. Harry McNamara and Dr. Herbert E. Gade as police physicians. They were the first appointed since the resignation of Dr. Peter D. Corsones and Dr. Alfred W. Harder some time ago. The department's other physician, who has served in that capacity for several years is Dr. Chester B. VanGaasbeek.

The summer regulation on uniform permits patrolmen "to wear the regulation uniform shirt without a tie, and with collar unbuttoned, and tie worn loosely... if they so desire."

This will be in effect until Sept. 15, "after which ties will be worn, shirt collars buttoned, and Sam Browne belts worn to complete the uniform as in the past."

25 Injuries Reported

Police Chief Raymond VanBuren's report to the board showed 25 persons injured in 21 traffic mishaps, and 123 arrests made in May.

Of those injured, seven were pedestrians, 10 were in accidents involving two or more vehicles, five were hurt when vehicles ran off roadways, and three were in bicycle mishaps.

Arrest Figures

The report on arrests showed 36 booked on public intoxication charges and the same for city traffic code violations. Four arrests were for second degree assault, eight for third degree assault, 16 for violations of the vehicle and traffic law and 13 for disorderly conduct.

Four were booked on juvenile delinquency charges, one for malicious mischief, two for driving while intoxicated, and two for petit larceny.

Of those arrested 41 paid fines, 17 were committed to jail, 19 were given suspended sentences, 14 forfeited bail, two were referred to the grand jury, two charges were withdrawn and 22 cases are pending.

Patrolman Julius M. Glassman, president of the Kingston Patrolmen's Association, was granted permission to attend the annual conference of the State Patrolmen's Benevolent Association at Lake Placid next week. The conference opens Monday and continues through Thursday.

Girls State to Open In Paltz, Stang Talks

Mayor Frederick H. Stang, former educational director of Girls Empire State, will be the speaker this evening at New Paltz State Teachers College when the 1957 session gets under way.

During the next week 271 girls from all sections of New York state will meet at the College to function as a model state. During that time they will elect their own officers, operate as a state, county and municipality in a program designed to give the young high school girls an insight into government.

To Visit City

They will visit Kingston, which on their program will be known as Colonial City, and observe city government. Ulster county will become Huguenot County, and will be used as the model county in their political set-up. State government will be observed at Albany.

S. James Matthews, Kingston attorney and civic leader, who served as educational director last year at Saratoga, will again be in that position for the 1957 session.

Eight girls from Ulster county will join the group today for the opening session of the eight-day conference which has been transferred from Saratoga to the New Paltz college campus.

County Delegates

Attending from this county will be Carol Coursele, sponsored by Town of Esopus Post 1298; Mary Levich, sponsored by Lloyd Post 193; Dorothy Gerrity, sponsored by Cook-Taylor Post 111; Sally Davis, Lamouree-Hackett Post 150; Norma Benedict, Rose Sheeley Post 1034; Trudie Miller, Ulster County American Legion Auxiliary, who is from the Olive area, and Ann Walsh, Sullivan-Shaffer Post 176.

Health Director Says Outbreak Is Not Alarming

Late Bulletin

Dr. Dudley W. Hargrave, Ulster county health commissioner, has called a meeting of parents at School No. 4, Lindsley and Delaware avenues, at 8 p. m. today to discuss the current infectious hepatitis outbreak.

He said he felt it would be desirable to hold a meeting "and let the parents fire away with questions to quiet any fears and anxiety."

Parents of School No. 2 children also are invited to attend. The Health Department today reported six cases of the disease at School No. 2 and one at No. 4.

The present outbreak was described by Dr. Hargrave as "not of alarming proportions."

A police detachment was dispatched to School No. 4, Lindsley and Delaware avenues, this morning when approximately 20 mothers marched on the building demanding establishment of an inoculation clinic in light of an outbreak of infectious hepatitis, which health officials described as "not of alarming proportions."

Dr. Dudley W. Hargrave, Ulster county health commissioner, told The Freeman there is presently a total of seven cases of hepatitis reported to his office—six at School No. 2 and one at School No. 4—and we are watching the situation closely."

Press for Clinic

A call for police at 9:32 a. m. was made to headquarters by Earl F. Soper, superintendent of Kingston city schools, who reported "about 20 mothers have marched on the school, blocking fire escapes, exits and entrances."

The police report indicated the mothers' group refused to let the children leave the school—classes recessed for summer vacation this morning—until a clinic was established to immunize pupils against hepatitis.

Quiet, Say Police

Deputy Chief Robert F. Murphy headed the police detail which included Officers Gurnsey Burger Sr., Edward Leonard, Charles McCullough and John Marquardt. The report said "everything was quiet" on the arrival of police.

Mrs. Theresa Parker, of 73 Crane street, president of the Mothers' Club at the school, who did not participate in the march on the building, claimed that an informational letter on hepatitis, signed by Dr. Irving J. Josephson, city schools medical director, had not been properly circulated among parents.

Dr. Hargrave said he felt the parents were becoming "unduly (Continued on Page 6, Col. 5)

High Court Meeting Today On Girard Case Petition

Washington, June 21 (AP)—The Supreme Court studies today the knotty legal question of whether GI William S. Girard should be tried by a Japanese civil court on a manslaughter charge.

Eight of the court's nine justices planned to be on hand for a closed conference on a Justice Department plea for a quick reversal of a decision that Girard may be tried only by a U. S. military court. The ninth justice, William O. Douglas, left Washington before the lower court decision was handed down last Tuesday.

U. S. District Judge Joseph C. McGarraghy ruled that Girard, a specialist 3/C, from Ottawa, Ill., must not be tried by a Japanese court in the firing range death of a Japanese woman. McGarraghy held that Girard was on duty at the time of the shooting and that the soldier's constitutional rights would be violated if he were handed over to Japan for trial.

In its petition seeking reversal of McGarraghy's decision, the Justice Department said the (Continued on Page 7, Col. 5) lower court ruling was "clearly wrong." The justices probably will have to consider also a contention by lawyers for Girard that the soldier should be granted a writ of habeas corpus so he may be returned to the United States. They announced in New York yesterday they expected to file a "cross appeal" today. They said McGarraghy's decision "did not go far enough."

Girard's lawyers had asked McGarraghy to issue such a writ, but the judge said on Tuesday he was not doing so because he felt the facts of the case were clear and he required no further hearings.

The Supreme Court's regular Friday closed conference, beginning about noon, usually continues into late afternoon. "Court" observers doubt announcements of any conclusions reached by the eight justices will be made before next Monday's regular session of court.

The high tribunal had planned to quit for the summer after next Monday. There was no indication how the Girard case might affect those plans.

Reports Eisenhower Not Too Upset Over Budget Cuts

Washington, June 21 (AP)—President Eisenhower was pictured today as "not too disturbed at what Congress has done in reducing his budget."

Rep. Jensen of Iowa made that report on Eisenhower's attitude after Jensen and 39 other House Republicans had breakfast with the President at the White House.

The get-together over scrambled eggs, bacon and fish cakes was the third in a series. Eisenhower is having all Republican members of Congress in as early morning guests in an effort to win enactment of his legislative program.

The meeting with this latest group came on the heels of a GOP rally last night at which Eisenhower was the speaker. At the party session Eisenhower steered away from specific legislative problems but urged his audience to "carry on the good fight for America."

In last night's speech Eisenhower defined Republicanism as "never-failing concern" for every American, "no matter what his religion or the color of his skin."

Eisenhower has had some rough going in Congress in trying to win approval of the administration's $71,800,000,000 budget. The House and Senate already have voted some deep cuts, and the President on more than one occasion has spoken out in opposition to such reductions.

So the remark by Jensen that Eisenhower's "not too disturbed"—or at least doesn't seem to be—about the cuts came as something of a surprise.

Jensen, a member of the appropriations committee, told newsmen:

"He recognizes that it is the duty of members of Congress to exercise their own good judgment."

Jensen went on to say that he regards Eisenhower as "a great guy" who is "very considerate" regarding the views of others.

Trailer Camp 'Armistice' Breaks; Move Made to Try 4 on New Charge

The "armistice" in the Town of Ulster trailer camp battle, which it was reported Thursday would be in effect until County Judge Louis G. Bruhn rules next Tuesday on matters before him, broke wide open again Thursday night.

The four trailer camp operators who had previously been arrested on charges of violation of the town ordinance, were again arrested and taken before Justice of the Peace Harold Macholdt on informations, alleging they had violated the ordinance on June 18 and 19. They pleaded innocent.

During the evening, and while the defendants who refused to post bail were in custody of peace officers awaiting their being remanded to the custody of the sheriff, an attempt to remove them from the custody of the officers and arraign them before Justice of the Peace Millard T. Davis on another charge complicated matters.

The four defendants, Mattie Every, 57, of Flatbush avenue extension, arrested by Deputy Sheriff Peter Peterson; Arthur C. Granquist, 49, Route 2, Kingston, Ontario Trail, arrested by County Investigator Arthur H. Brown; Anthony S. Cicoria, Sawkill road, also arrested by County Investigator Brown and Robert Davis Mitchell, 40, of Trailer Haven at Route 9W and East Chester street By-Pass, arrested by Constables Joseph Lamphere and Fergual, were represented in the proceedings by Attorneys John J. Schick and Aaron Klein.

Before Justice Macholdt they entered pleas of innocent and bail was set at $25 each count for all but Mitchell in whose case the bail was $100 on each of the two counts.

All four defendants declined to give bail and were remanded to custody of the sheriff. It was while they were in custody of peace officers awaiting transfer to the County Court house that an attempt was made to serve new informations against the four. The warrants had been sworn out before Justice of the Peace Davis.

"We don't know what these informations charged," said Mr. Schick who had been summoned (Continued on Page 7, Col. 5)

Famous Hotel Is To Give Way to Upstate Roadway

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., June 21 (AP)—The famed White Sulphur Springs Hotel will be torn down to straighten a highway.

The big inn, last of those for which this racing and health resort once was famous, was training headquarters on occasion for heavyweight boxing champions Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney. It is about 85 years old.

The state has bought the property on Saratoga Lake from Frank T. Somma of Albany and will straighten Route 9P. The highway curves around the front porch of the old building.

Contracts for the project are to be awarded in July.

The price was reported unofficially to be $65,000.

Somma obtained the hotel in 1946. It had been operated for 55 years by Thomas P. Luther, a well-known conservationist, and then for 16 years by Ernest Caringi. A sulphur spring was a prominent feature.

Turnau Players Offer New Three-Act Opera

Woodstock, June 20—The Turnau Opera Players will stage a new three-act American opera, "Jacob and the Indians" by Ezra Laderman, for five performances beginning July 26 as part of its repertory opera season in the Byrdcliffe Theater in Woodstock, it has been announced by producer Sally Turnau.

Negotiations are also under way to present the work in New York city during the fall.

Ernest Kinoy adapted the libretto from a short story by Stephen Vincent Benet with the same title. Rights were cleared this week with the Benet estate. The production will be under the musical direction of Jackson Wiley, with Barbara Owens handling the dramatic directing chores.

Mr. Laderman, 32, wrote the opera on a Guggenheim Fellowship grant during the past year. During the past season, his works have been performed in the city's major concert halls, as well as on NBC network television. Particular attention was focused on a new method he devised of indicating rhythmic counterpoint for dancers, in scores for instruments and dancers. "Jacob and the Indians" is his first operatic production. Another opera of his, "The Clown," is currently under option to Feist and Seaman for fall New York presentation.

Ernest Kinoy, the librettist, is known chiefly for the quality of his TV scripts, produced on all major networks. He has authored the Hume Cronyn-Jessica Tandy series "The Marriage," and is also librettist for "The Clown."

The Turnau Opera Players are offering their third season this summer as the country's only professional AGMA company presenting "summer stock" repertory opera. The group is offering 33 performances of eight separate bills at its 225 seat Byrdcliffe Theatre in Woodstock during July and August.

Township Democrats Hear Activity Report

Woodstock, June 20 — The June meeting of the Woodstock Township Democratic Club was held recently at Parnassus Square.

Various activities were reported on, such as the "Day of Political Education," held recently at Broglie's; the Ulster County Democratic Dinner; and on the local level, the highly successful rummage sale held recently.

In the course of the meeting a motion was carried expressing the consensus of opinion of the group that the townspeople of Woodstock are to be congratulated for re-uniting the upper and lower districts of Woodstock Township—a good example of democracy in action by all the people regardless of political affiliation.

Prior to adjournment the club once again came to grips with the problem of a possible place for meetings, there being no centrally located place available on a year-round basis. The place for the July meeting will be announced.

Doctor Magic

An entertainment will be given by Dr. Benjamin Pressman, of Woodstock, familiarly known as "Doctor Magic," in the Reformed Church basement Saturday evening, July 6. The well-known prestidigitator will have one of his characteristically interesting shows which are stimulating and fun to watch, as well as offering a challenge to figure out how he does it.

Trash to Cash

Woodstock, June 20 — Boy Scout Troop 34 during the past 24 years of its existence has had several sets of tents. But with each set there has been the same story summarized in the words, "tents for rents," according to the Rev. Harvey I. Todd.

The purpose of the "Trash to Cash" effort has been to secure new tents, and these have been set up on the village green. The Scouts and leaders of Boy Scout Troop 34 wish to thank the people of Woodstock for their cooperation in the drive for trash which was sold in order to purchase the tents, the Rev. Mr. Todd said.

Centennial Party

Lansing, Mich. (AP)—The House of Michigan Legislature has a tradition of putting on a celebration when the first 100 bills have been introduced. But it's not a wild one. The legislator offering the 100th bill has to foot the bill for a round of ice cream in paper cups for all the law makers.

'D' Day Drawing Nearer for Local Phone Customers

"D-Day" for Kingston is drawing nearer, according to Robert J. Dalton.

Mr. Dalton, local manager here for the New York Telephone Company, explained that rapid progress is being made on installation of complex equipment in preparation for the arrival later this year of dial service in Kingston—unofficially dubbed "D" or "Dial" Day.

At that time, individual and two-party line customers will be able to dial their own local and long distance calls to about 24 million telephones in the Kingston area and throughout the United States. Four-party line customers will be able to dial calls within their local calling area.

New Equipment Added

About 465 tons of equipment are being placed in position at the telephone company's building at 449 Broadway. A new two-story addition was recently completed to house the new facilities.

Mounted on huge steel frames, the machinery will function as an electronic brain to switch Kingston calls to nearby and distant points throughout North America.

The changeover to dial will culminate months of planning, engineering and work, Mr. Dalton indicated. The plans and specifications, drawn up by New York Telephone Company, were furnished to the Western Electric Company so the machinery could be manufactured. Western Electric is the Bell System manufacturing, supply and installation unit of the Bell Telephone System.

Machinery Readied

Right now, Mr. Dalton added, Western Electric crews are at work putting the machinery in shape for operation. Alfred R. Cuedon, Central Office foreman, is in charge of the job for the telephone company; R. Redmond, project supervisor is supervising the job for Western Electric.

When Western Electric technicians have finished their work, New York Telephone Company switchmen will take over the last big job before D-Day—putting the automatic machinery through its paces to insure perfect operation when Kingston customers begin dialing their calls.

At the same time the dial equipment is being readied for service, the finishing touches are being put on Kingston's new key-pulse switchboard.

"This will help whisk operator-handled long distance calls from Kingston, Saugerties and other nearby communities to distant points in a fraction of the time required by present methods," Mr. Dalton noted. "By about August the switchboard will be in operation and operators will start their final 'on the board' training."

The cost of bringing dial to Kingston—including the dial machinery, new switchboard and building addition—will total $4,500,000, Mr. Dalton indicated.

Captive Audience

Milwaukee (AP)—William Anderson, manager of Milwaukee County Stadium, has urged his 121 parking attendants to be kind to motorists who might get caught in heavy traffic leading to the stadium where the Milwaukee Braves hold forth. Last year, he explained, there was a driver who couldn't get his car out of the middle lane leading directly to a parking lot. Asked for his 25-cent parking fee, the man replied: "Listen, bud, I'm just trying to get to Minneapolis."

Single molecules are not visible to the naked eye.

SALK VACCINE CLINICS

Salk vaccine clinics for polio will be held Saturday morning in the Benedictine and Kingston Hospitals, Saugerties Health Center, Ellenville Veterans' Memorial Hospital, New Paltz Village Building and Alban Town of Shandaken Building.

These injections are free for children from six months through 19 years.

According to medical authorities, Salk vaccine is both safe and effective. Since the spring of 1955, some 51 million people have had injections with an excellent safety record. Before being approved by the U. S. Public Health Service, it was given in field trials to more than 400,000 children. Two shots, two to six weeks apart, are 70 to 80 per cent effective. A third or "booster" shot, seven months after the second, provides effectiveness estimated at 90 per cent. After widespread inoculations among elementary school children, polio cases in 1956 dropped 47 per cent as compared to 1955 and 59 per cent as compared to the 1951-55 average.

Think these figures over. If your children have not been inoculated, now is the time to have it done.

THE GIRARD TRIAL

The recent anti-American riots in Taipei, Taiwan, and the announcement that Army Specialist 3C William C. Girard must stand trial for murder in a Japanese court bring home to all Americans, and especially to parents, a problem that is grave and the source of great anxiety. No American of fair-mindedness will condone crimes by American soldiers, committed against the natives of countries in which they are stationed. But at the same time, there are many other considerations.

The system of law and justice in many other countries is different from the Anglo-Saxon one which is the basis of American law and trial procedure. Further, in many countries, anti-American sentiment can be whipped up by Communists as well as by others. There can be miscarriages of justice. Severe, perhaps too severe, penalties can be handed out. We all want to keep this from happening.

Possibly Girard will receive a fair trial. The facts of his case, as reported, leave issues in doubt. A positive statement rendered from afar and by one who only has the information given in press reports would obviously be of little meaning. But this case points up a grave problem. It will leave Americans very troubled. They want to be certain that their boys overseas receive justice.

Here is one case where a "junket" is called for. A committee of senators and congressmen selected for their legal ability should travel abroad and investigate this entire situation. The expense of such a trip is one which the majority of Americans would approve. Congress should act on this matter, and to act it must gain as much sure knowledge as possible. Also, a competent Congressional observer with an able translator should be present at the Girard trial. This matter cannot be taken lightly or as mere routine.

GIFT FROM THE HEART

Gregory Banos has established a million-dollar scholarship fund for needy students at Syracuse University. Banos, a Syracuse restaurant owner, says this is an expression of gratitude to the United States for the opportunities it has given him.

He came here after his own education was halted prematurely in Greece by the necessity of supporting his widowed mother. His story offers reassurance that America continues to be a land of opportunity. It also indicates that the nation benefits in large measure by making opportunity available to all.

Why is it that people who are strong-minded enough to know when they should go home can take an hour to say goodbye in the doorway.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
ARE WE HOAXED?

There is no Status of Forces Treaty with Japan. There is such a treaty with the countries which are members of NATO, but when that treaty was confirmed by the Senate, two reservations were stipulated, one, that an American soldier's constitutional rights should not be diminished and the other that the Status of Forces Treaty with NATO countries should not serve as a precedent for agreements with other countries.

In the case of William S. Girard, this is an important issue which has to be taken to the courts, as it has been, by his counsel Earl J. Carroll. Here is an American citizen who is entitled to be tried by an American military court but who is being handed over by our government to a Japanese criminal court and is being forced to accept a Japanese lawyer, not of his choosing, and it is all being admittedly done by the Department of Defense, for political reasons which are independent of the facts in his law or the laws of the United States or the laws of nations.

The Department of Defense bases its case on Article III of the Security Treaty with Japan, signed September 8, 1951. That treaty granted the United States the right to maintain armed forces in Japan. Article III reads:

"The conditions which shall govern the disposition of Armed Forces of the United States of America in and about Japan shall be determined by Administrative Agreement between the two governments."

The word that is the cause of the argument is "disposition." About such a word, diplomats can debate forever, although there are plenty of dictionaries to tell them what it means. Earl Johnson and Dean Rusk on February 28, 1952, signed an administrative agreement with the Japanese which proposes that the United States sign an agreement with Japan similar to the NATO Status of Forces Treaty. It is a proposal, not a fact. Furthermore, such an agreement would have been an evasion of the constitutional authority of the President and the Senate. It was something that the Japanese wanted to give them face but which our government at the time dared not submit to the test of public opinion and Senatorial ratification.

So, a Protocol was drawn up, signed by John M. Allison, United States Ambassador to Japan, on September 29, 1953. A Protocol is really a work paper, a document used as preliminary to the opening of diplomatic transactions. Allison's Protocol relinquishes civilian and certain American military personnel to the Japanese government. This document has been a hush-hush affair, never submitted to the Senate as a treaty and surely cannot constitutionally be binding upon the United States. As far as the Protocol affects Girard, this is the wording:

"(A) The Military authorities of the United States shall have the primary right to exercise jurisdiction over members of the United States Armed Forces or the civilian component in relation to . . .

"(1) offenses arising out of any act or omission done in the performance of official duty."

It has been admitted by the government of the United States that Girard was engaged in the performance of his duty when he killed Mrs. Sakai.

On September 29, 1953, Ambassador John M. Allison signed another document. This one was entitled, "Agreed Official Minutes Regarding Protocol To Amend Article XVII of the Administrative Agreement Between the United States of America and Japan." What the value of "Agreed Official Minutes" is, in international relations, only Allison can know. There is no such technical terminology in law. Undoubtedly this was an attempt to clarify a confusion of diplomatic origin by establishing a two man commission to decide what the two man commission, an American and a Japanese military man, composed a document entitled "Agreed Views," which are only the agreed views of these two men, as they were never included in a treaty, ratified by the Senate, according to the Constitution. Thereby the Constitution is altogether by-passed, and what it all comes to is that the liberty and life of an American soldier in Japan are no longer safeguarded by the Constitution.

In fact, both the Japanese and the American governments admit that Girard is a victim of a political situation and that justice and law are not at issue. That was the way the American government case was presented to a Senate committee and to a court in Washington.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.
FLUORIDATION OF WATER

Whenever I read a report of the great benefits being derived in dental health by those cities and communities who have fluoridated their water supplies and have studied the "before and after" decrease in tooth decay, I feel it is a shame that so many communities are being deprived of it by small groups of misinformed citizens. I would like to pass along to readers what Christian Smith, Director of Health Education, Saskatchewan, has to say as reported in the magazine "Health."

"One of the phenomena of our time is the eruption of fantastic opposition to the prevention of dental diseases by means of community water fluoridation. In a number of Canadian and United States cities, little groups of self-appointed guardians of the public welfare have campaigned unblushingly against the organized medical and dental professions, the research scientists, and the public health authorities with cries of 'poison,' 'sabotage,' and 'communism.'"

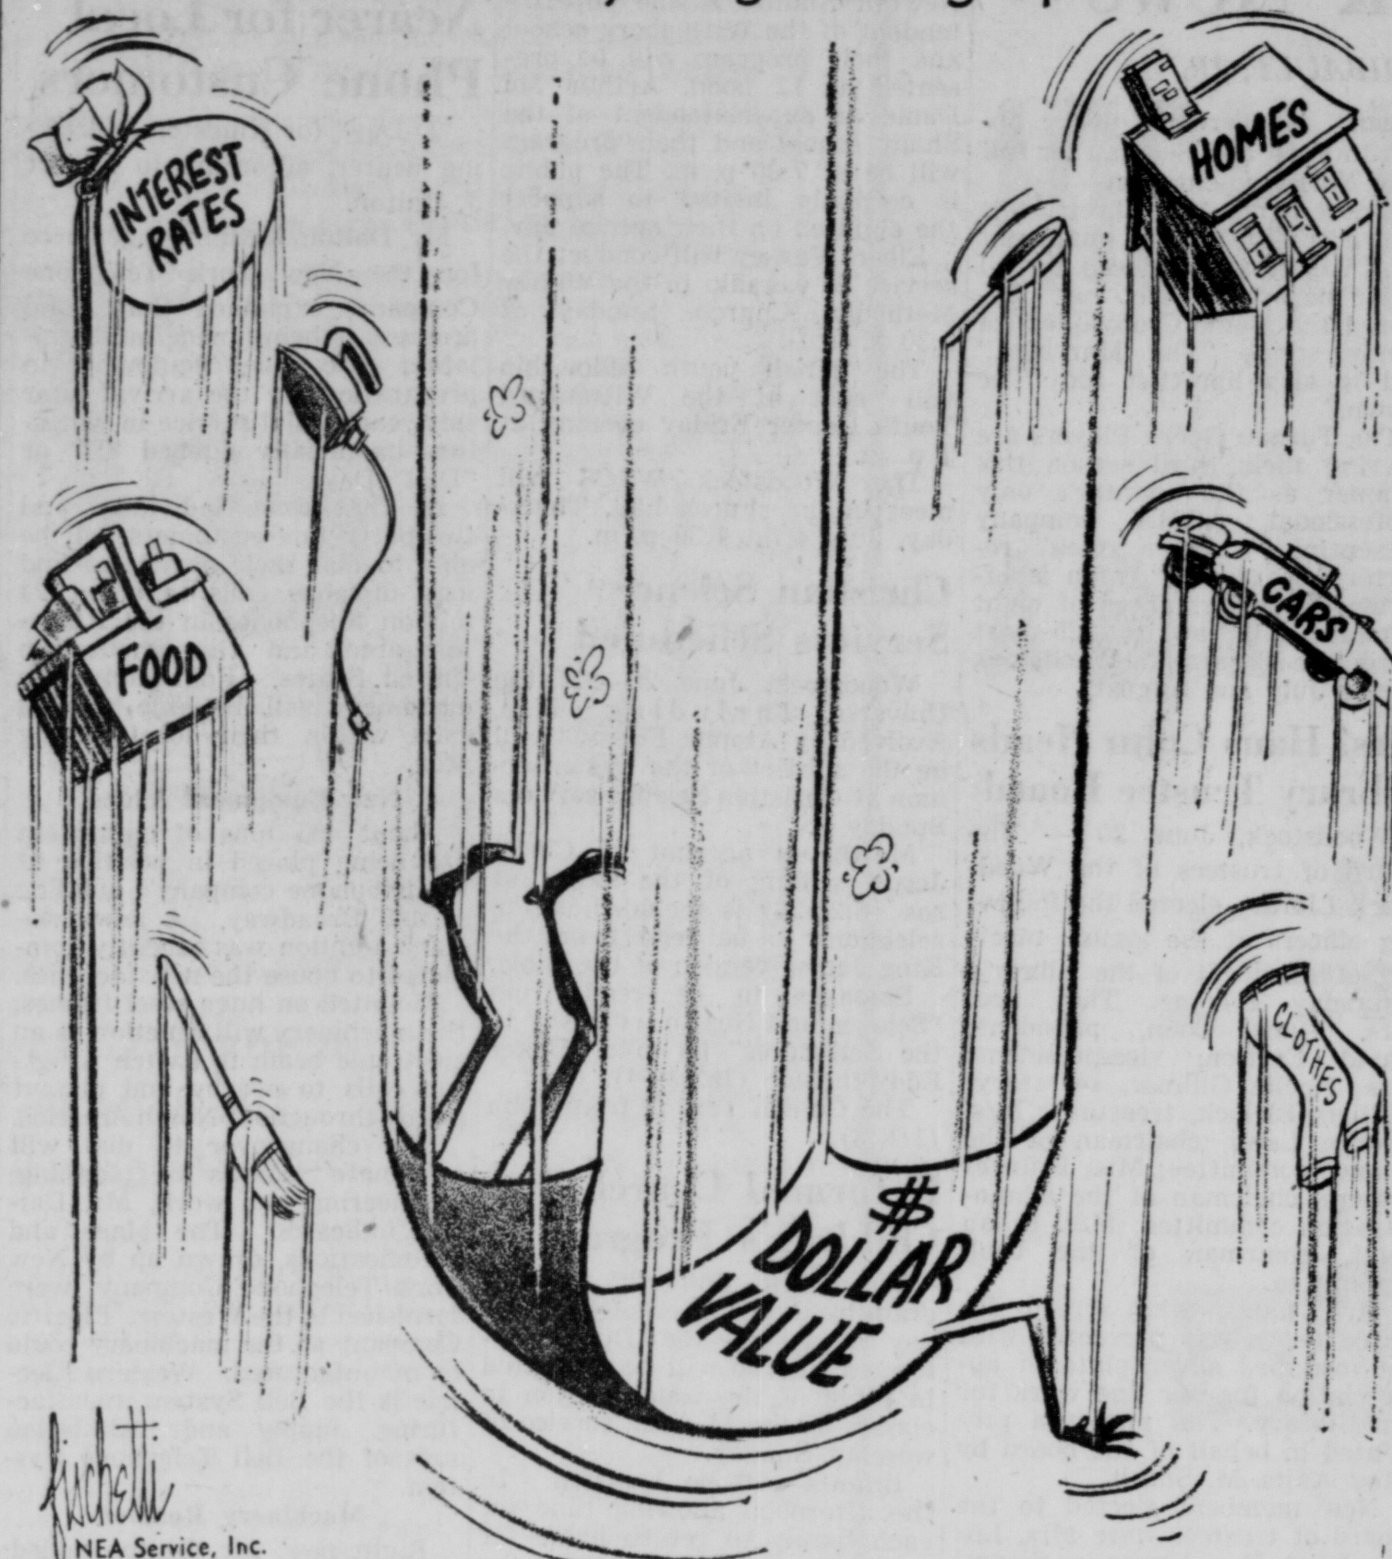

"We could all sit back, calmly examine this interesting development and even enjoy it, if it were not for the fact that the small groups have demonstrated that they can scare thousands of people into depriving their children and future generations of adults of the benefits of fluoridation. It would not be so bad, either, if the dental disease problem did not affect the health and appearance of so many of our people. Dental decay is universal and the situation is getting worse rather than better."

It seems, however, to be true that it is difficult to get people interested in a preventive measure, however good and safe it may be, if they are not concerned with what it prevents. There has been a shocking indifference to dental disease among our people; the main interest is appearance. You can get people to listen if you mention what bad teeth do to appearance but not if you want to talk about the effect of an abscess on the health of an individual.

"There are individuals and enterprises which make a fat living manufacturing literature to satisfy any group. It's a lucrative racket. Then there are individuals and organizations which pretend scientific knowledge and qualification and make pronouncements with seeming authority on a wide range of subjects. It is difficult for persons who have no science training or connections with the scientific enterprise to evaluate these people and their campaigns. The result is that little groups of citizens buy quick literature, quote quicks as authorities, and thereby are able to convince our communities that the medical and dental professions are at best mistaken, at worst in a sinister plot to kill us off with rat poison. The result of all this is that they create an atmosphere of controversy where none really exists. Therefore a Home and School Association or a Rotary Club labors under the mistaken obligation to 'hear both sides' and wants to invite one of the 'anti-fluoridationists' to speak with a reputable physician or dentist is to give the case for fluoridation. When a service club invites a police official to speak on crime prevention, it doesn't invite a juvenile delinquent to speak for crime."

Not Everything's Going Up

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington, (NEA) — The United States has been had.

This end result of Russian Communist Party Secretary Nikita Khrushchev's televised interview is becoming increasingly clear in Washington.

Columbia Broadcasting System's enterprise in staging the show is in no way belittled by this conclusion.

Also, it is generally conceded that the hour-long program had no effect whatever in changing any American's opinion of communism. Nobody here was taken in by Khrushchev's lines that it was the U. S. which had an iron curtain around it and that everything was lovely in Hungary.

But in all panel shows the person being interviewed always has the advantage. Reporters couldn't talk back to Khrushchev when he said he didn't know how many men were in the Red army. Reporters have to take such stuff and trust that their public will know the man isn't telling the truth.

It is what the Russians themselves have been able to do with the Khrushchev interview transcript in other countries that makes the United States look like a sucker in this affair.

RADIO MOSCOW and Tass, the Russian propaganda agency, have been repeating selected sections of this broadcast all over the world. Their object has been to make the Russians look like peace-loving do-gooders and to make the U. S. look like imperialist warmongers.

What is even more damaging, the Russians have been quoting American sources to build up their line that Khrushchev is a jolly old fellow who wants to be a good neighbor in all relations. For instance, Tass, in an English dispatch to North America, quoted the New York Herald Tribune to the effect that the Khrushchev interview was in itself an encouraging indication of relaxed tension between the two countries.

In another Tass dispatch to Europe former U. S. Ambassador to Moscow George Kennan was quoted as having written: "Khrushchev set forth many suppositions which were very correct."

ACTUALLY KENNAN'S full review on the broadcast was highly critical of the Russians. But the one sentence quoted above gave the impression that the author of the original policy of containment had swung over and was now pro-Khrushchev.

The Christian Science Monitor was quoted by Tass as having reported that Moscow's evident readiness to approach disarmament gradually and not to propose an all-embracing agreement was welcomed in Washington.

This stuff has been sent all over the world to give the impression that the U. S. is ready to follow Khrushchev.

AS ONE RADIO Moscow commentator put it, "The clear-cut and frank expression of his (Khrushchev's) views cannot fail to impress large sections of American public opinion. . . . There has been a thaw in the Cold War climate and American public opinion is no longer as willing as it used to be to swallow any fantastic canard or attack on the Soviet Union."

All of this points up the moral that the United States has come out the loser on this one-sided cultural exchange.

This result is now being carefully weighed as a warning of what might happen on an even grander scale in any regular exchange of radio and television shows.

HOW MUCH FOR HEALTH?

How much is good health worth to you? If you have it, you don't worry about it. If you don't have it, you'd give every cent to get it. You can't put a price on it. But you do pay for it.

The average American family spends four to five per cent of its yearly income for medical care and related services. All of us together spend more than ten billion dollars for personal health services. That's not counting what the federal, state, and local governments spend. Of course, we spend more than that for recreation, more for alcoholic beverages and tobacco, twice as much to buy and maintain our cars. Four or five per cent doesn't seem too much for health.

But does that mean you can't afford to spend your share of that ten billion dollars? But you don't have to. You can help yourself avoid the heavy medical expenditures that come with serious illness. See your doctor periodically for a check up. Call him in the early stages of illness. Let him help you keep your priceless good health.

Good health is possible only when we take full advantage of what modern science can do for us. Maybe this year you and your family were lucky. New York (AP) — The Great White Way has a new theatrical rival in Central Park. While Broadway's pavements bake in the summer sun, the green sward of mid-Manhattan's "big back yard" is offering two new theatrical attractions. A series of Shakespearean dramas is to be played at the foot of a century old castle tower, and a wintertime skating rink is being used for a series of "Theater Under the Stars" musical shows.

Theater Bill
New York (AP) — A number of Broadway leaders are backing a bill in Congress aimed at Broadway's theatrical dominance. The measure was introduced by Sen. Jacob Javits (R-N.Y.) to establish a U. S. Arts Foundation that would stimulate non-commercial theater, music and dance enterprises throughout the country. White Way supporters feel increased activity will generate just that much more interest in its productions too.

Lack of Red Sincerity Seen In Talks on Disarmament

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 21 — The paradox of the hour is the way the Russians profess to be advocating "disarmament" at London at the very time that Moscow and Peiping are making military moves of a threatening nature aimed at the West.

The news dispatches have an ominous sound and the latest "communiqué" on the "cold war" reads as follows:

1. Egypt has been furnished three Soviet submarines to help patrol the Mediterranean and keep a watchful eye on the United States Sixth Fleet. Israel thinks the move may be directed at her shipping and is preparing countermeasures.

2. A Soviet cruiser and two escort vessels have just passed through the Turkish straits to the Mediterranean, and several more cruisers and destroyers of the Soviet navy are scheduled to pass through the same waterway soon.

Other Steps
3. The Russian navy has turned Albania into an armed camp, posing a threat to allied strategy in the Mediterranean. Submarine bases, according to United Press reports, have been built less than 50 miles from the Italian shore, and a large naval base in Albania has been "fortified and enlarged." A network of five air fields capable of handling jet planes has been established.

4. The United Nations command in Korea has at last been authorized to tell the Red Chinese formally that, because the armistice agreement has been violated by the Communist forces, it becomes necessary for the UN units to begin "modern weapons" to offset the advantage. Both the North Koreans and the Chinese Communists have illegally introduced new weapons into the area they hold north of the armistice line.

5. The Chinese Communists are building up more air fields for jet planes opposite Formosa, and considerable nervousness has reappeared in the area.

Camouflage Party
All this doesn't sound as if tensions are being removed. It gives the impression that the London talks are just part of a sparring match going on to fix responsibility by one side or the other for a possible breakdown.

The Russians, of course, get a big propaganda advantage in the world at large out of their pose as seekers of peace. It helps to quiet the fears of their own people and enables the Moscow strategists at the same time to keep up constant criticism of the west by seizing every sign of a difference of opinion and magnifying it to make it appear that the allies are disunited.

Actually, the negotiations are so delicate that it is a matter of deep regret that President Eisenhower permitted any discussion of the disarmament problem at his press conference. The President talks informally and likes to answer the newsmen, but every syllable he utters should have been written out in advance. Off-the-cuff comments on foreign affairs are dangerous. Press Secretary Hagerty had to straighten out a misapprehension gained by the reporters from an overcondensed statement which the President made on disarmament. Moscow took advantage of the episode. When finally cleared up, it turned out that Mr. Eisenhower had not deviated from the agreed-upon line with the allies.

Johnson Lends A Hand

Meanwhile, Sen. Lyndon Johnson, Democratic leader, has come part way toward "co-operation" with the President and the disarmament mission headed by Harold Stassen. The Texas Senator says he will agree to let some Democratic Senators go to London provided he gets a "formal request" from the President. Even so, the Senators are merely to be "observers" and not members of the mission.

Mr. Johnson seems to feel that Senators cannot "participate" in the mission itself or share any "responsibility" for the decisions made, since the United States doesn't have a parliamentary system and the Constitution calls for a separation of the legislative and executive. But this is splitting hairs. Either the Senators who go along do so with the knowledge that they will help formulate a treaty they can recommend to the Senate for its "advice and consent," or they let the other members of the mission at London during the negotiations that they will not so recommend and why.

The idea of any Senators going on a foreign mission and remaining aloof and inarticulate, so that those diplomats doing the negotiating of a treaty do not know whether or not the Senators present will approve or disapprove when they go back home to vote, will be regarded as a piece of political chicanery that does not reflect a wholehearted desire to cooperate.

There was nothing in the Constitution which prevented the late Sen. Arthur Vandenberg, Republican, from helping the administration of President Truman, Democrat, to negotiate the United Nations charter treaty at San Francisco. So there is nothing in the Constitution today, which prevents a Democratic Senator from helping to negotiate a treaty for President Eisenhower, Republican. It's only necessary that the Senators concerned should not receive any pay from the executive branch of the government for such services, and then they will be conforming to all constitutional requirements.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

New York, June 21 (AP)—Summer arrives today for an official visit only to find that in many parts of the nation she had already outworn her welcome several days ago.

The prolonged heat wave spurred business in some lines, such as sales of air conditioners and light apparel. It cut sales in others, such as food and home furnishings.

It brought slowdowns in many production lines and offices, and walkouts in a few overheated plants.

In some cities a new look was being taken today at the electric power capacity and the industry's flexibility in time of emergency. Record consumption of power taxed the utilities while heat was causing equipment breakdowns.

Demand Shifts
The big trend toward air conditioning in recent years has tended to switch the utilities peak load problems from the winter to the summer months. Edison Electric Institute reports a big jump in consumption for the nation in the last week, with the biggest increases in those sections hardest hit by the pre-summer heat wave. Power shortages were reported in both Chicago and New York.

Many of the faster growing communities are wondering today how to increase their water facilities. In some places pressures dropped toward the vanishing point under the increased demand.

So summer arrives today with a running head start on the general industrial slowdown so widely expected.

Weather should have only part of the blame for this. Weakness in a number of industries is lengthening the shutdown periods scheduled next month. In July a sizable portion of the nation's plants will close down for one to three weeks for mass vacations.

To Let Sales Catch Up
This growing habit is being strengthened this time by the slowdown in business for the textile and metalworking industries. Vacations will be extended by a number of companies to let sales catch up with production. At least one of the big auto lines will close down for a time, too.

Summer is also ushering in another big problem for many manufacturers. Ten days from now the pay scales of the steel workers will rise. And the price of steel seems sure to rise with it. Whether it will go up $5 a ton or $8, steel users will have to figure out that in among the many other factors tending to raise manufacturing costs and to keep the price inflation problem acute.

Steelmakers report little advance ordering to beat the price rise and guess that means that many steel users are looking for a quiet summer. Pickup in demand for steel is expected by fall, when manufacturers will have a better view of business trends and of the chances of passing along steel price hikes in the form of higher prices on their own products.

Big Vacation Business
But summer brings with her at least one bit of good news for business. A record vacation period is predicted. Transportation, resort, hotel, sporting goods and soft drink industries all look for major gains over last year.

The oil industry, currently plagued by large inventories and over production, looks for a nice increase in gasoline consumption this summer. The tire makers are happy. The makers of man made fibers are happy.

America may not work so hard this summer. But it seems likely to play harder than ever.

Phoenicia Youth Wins Courtesy Award at Onteora

OTTO KREIN

Otto Krein, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Krein of Phoenicia, a junior, was selected as the most courteous student in the Onteora Central School.

A "Courtesy is Contagious" campaign was sponsored by the general business class under the supervision of Ronald Koster, commercial teacher. The campaign was conducted for three weeks following the Easter recess.

Homeroom teachers in grades 7-12 were asked to select the exceptionally courteous students in their homerooms. The general business class then organized courtesy marshals to check on these people, draft rules and publicize the campaign. The class selected Otto Krein, first and Louise Prochaska, second.

Parchment scrolls were presented to the first two winners and 26 additional prizes of free lunches for a week were awarded to the honorable mentions. The scrolls were lettered by Miss Sue Huebener, elementary art teacher. In addition, Otto Krein received a novel of his choice for being the most courteous student in school and Louise Prochaska received $2 through the courtesy of District Superintendent R. R. Bennett, as the second, most courteous student. All of the awards were presented in a recent assembly.

La Mesa, Calif. (AP) — School officials agree that all-night floor pacing by new fathers constitutes unusual mental strain. The trustees have voted to grant a one-day leave of absence with pay to male school teachers on the day following the birth of their child. League Dairymen To Get $616,292 Additional Money

New York, June 21 — Dairy farmers who are members of the Dairymen's League will receive a total of $616,292 in addition to their regular milk checks next month. The money, in the form of a "13th check," will be paid to producers on or about July 15 at the rate of two cents for every one hundred pounds of milk (46.5 quarts) delivered during the fiscal year April 1, 1956-March 31, 1957. All producers who marketed their milk as members of the League during that period will receive checks based upon the amount of milk delivered.

In each of the 12 months in every year League members receive checks for the milk they have delivered. At the end of the fiscal year when all operating costs are known, the funds remaining are distributed to members according to the total amount of milk delivered each year. This is popularly referred to as the "13th check."

Including next month's payment, the League will have distributed a total of $1,639,261 to members in the form of a "13th check" during the past two fiscal years.

Summer Arrives as Fair Skies Cover Most of East

(By The Associated Press)

Generally fair skies were on tap in the east to greet the start of summer today. Rain was forecast along the Gulf coast, showers and thunderstorms in parts of the Rocky mountains and Northern and Central Plains and fair weather was in the works west of the Rockies.

Summer was to get under way officially at 11:21 a. m. (EST) with a generally seasonable weather pattern. It followed a spring which, up until its final hours, was marked by death-dealing tornados, thunderstorms, floods and the year's first sizzling heat wave.

Scattered thunderstorms pelted other sections of Minnesota early today. Alexandria, Minn., recorded nearly an inch of rain in a six-hour period ending early this morning.

Elsewhere the most widespread overnight activity was in Montana and Wyoming. A few isolated showers sprinkled the Pacific northwest and parts of the plains states.

Temperatures in New England were 10 to 15 degrees lower than 24 hours previously early today. It was a little cooler in the lower Great Lakes and parts of the northern Rockies. Temperature changes in other areas were minor.

Some early reports: Providence, R. I., 64 and clear; New York 70 and clear; Washington 72 and fair; Tampa 76 and fair; Detroit 69 and partly cloudy; New Orleans 74 and partly cloudy; Fort Worth 79 and clear; Rapid City, S. D., 64 and cloudy; Butte 44 and rain; Seattle 54 and showers; San Francisco 64 and clear and Phoenix 90 and clear.

41, 35 to Change FCC Plan Would Keep Channel 6 As VHF Station

Washington, June 21 (AP)—The communications commission today announced a tentative proposal to make the commercial TV channel assignments in the Albany-Schenectady-Troy, N. Y., area predominantly VHF, instead of all-UHF as was ordered by the commission in February.

If the proposal is made final, the area would have three VHF assignments, plus UHF Channel 23, assigned to WPTV-TV which is not in operation, and UHF Channel 17, reserved for educational use.

Invites Comments

The commission invited comment to be submitted by July 18 on the plan, which involves:

Reassignment of VHF Channel 10 in suburban Vale Mills, which was deleted by the February order.

Retention at Schenectady of Channel 6, long occupied by General Electric Station WRGB, which had been directed to shift to a UHF assignment.

A shift of Channel 13 from the Utica-Rome area to Albany-Schenectady-Troy with deletion of UHF Channels 35 and 41 from the latter area and substitution of Channel 13 for Channel 2 at Utica-Rome.

Other Shifts

If these changes are made, the commission said it would shift Utica Station WKTV from Channel 13 to Channel 2, Albany Channel 41 Station WGBA would be moved to Channel 10 at Vale Mills; and Albany Channel 35 Station WTRI would be given Channel 13 in Albany. WRGB would continue to operate on Channel 6.

The proposals were offered for public comment on a 4-2 vote of the commission, with Chairman George C. McConaughy not voting.

looked like a huge, flexible tube waving in the air."

Thus forewarned, Rasmussen, his neighbors and many others in the area got into their cars and drove away from the storm.

Identifies Daughters

A hysterical mother, Mrs. Gerald Munson, identified five of the dead as her three daughters—Phyllis Louise, 6, Jeanette, 5, and Mary Beth, 1—and her two sons, Darwin, 12, and Bradley, 10.

Mrs. Munson, at work away from home when she heard radio warnings of the approaching storm, called her house in time to hear the oldest daughter scream, "it's hitting." Then the phone went dead.

Searchers recovered the bodies of the five children. Their father was absent on an out-of-town job when the storm struck. Mrs. Munson was hospitalized for shock along with Lois Ann, 2, their sole surviving child, who suffered as yet undetermined injuries.

The other three dead, all adults, have not yet been identified.

Guilty Verdict

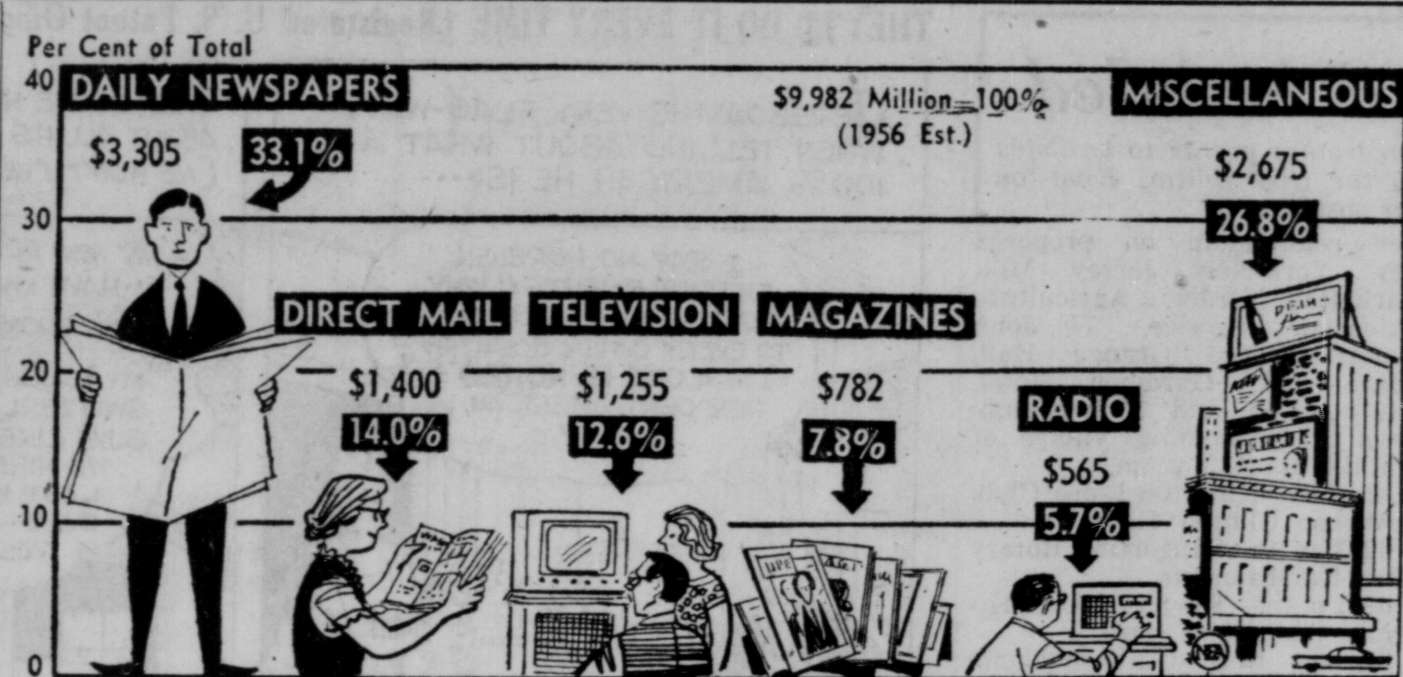

and John E. Gotelli represented the district attorney's office.

Sentence Postponed

On request of defense counsel, City Judge Raymond J. Mino postponed sentence until Monday.

A charge of passing a school bus lodged against Thomas J. Miller, of Box 68, RD, Kingston, on Tuesday, was dismissed in court today on recommendation of the district attorney's office. Miller was arrested on Abel street Tuesday by Officer Gurnsey Burger Jr.

Charlton A. Warren, 33, of RD 4, Box 450, who was arrested this morning on the Boulevard on a charge of speeding, forfeited $20 bail through failure to appear in court. The arrest was by Officers Charles McCullough and Jack Marquardt.

NEWSPAPERS STILL TOPS—Your daily newspaper is still the favorite with advertisers. Of nearly 10 billion advertising dollars spent in all major media in 1956, newspapers got 3,305 million, which is 33.1 per cent. Police Summoned alarmed" and issued the following statement:

"The Health Department does not feel the outbreak of infectious hepatitis is of alarming proportions, at least for the present."

"We are watching the situation closely and do have a small supply of gamma globulin, which will be utilized to protect those children who seem to have been in closest contact with known cases of the disease."

Urged to See Doctors

"The Health Department urges all parents who feel alarmed about any contact which their children may have had with the disease to consult their family physician on whether or not gamma globulin injections should be given."

"All of the cases reported so far have been very mild, and this is usually the case when children are involved."

Many times the disease is so mild it is never detected and diagnosed.

"Quite possibly, there may be a number of such mild cases in the community at the present time."

Working With Director

"The Health Department is working closely with Dr. Irving Josephson, medical director of the schools, in following the current outbreak. The fact that schools are closed or will soon be closing may help in limiting a number of cases of infectious hepatitis, since children will not be concentrated in classrooms."

"The casual type of contact, which occurs out of doors in parks, recreation areas and beaches is probably of very minor importance in spread of the disease from child to child."

"However, if a case does occur in a child or adult, all other members of the immediate family should consult the family physician without delay and serious consideration should be given to the use of gamma globulin."

Says Supply Short
Dr. Hargrave explained that the supply of gamma globulin is limited and, because of the shortage, is reserved for the family physician."

He said that hepatitis can become serious in adults, but the disease, a communicable one, is generally not severe when it infects children."

Mr. Soper and Dr. Josephson said they had no comment on the outbreak of the disease or the furor it had created and any statements would have to be made by Dr. Hargrave.

Mothers Score Officials
Mrs. Parker said the mothers' ire had been aroused by a lack of action on the part of school officials to provide immunization clinics for the pupils."

She said Dr. Josephson's letter explaining hepatitis had been officers of the Mothers' Club and Raymond Van Valkenburgh, principal of School No. 4, had "inferred that we should be responsible for contacting, by telephone, other mothers to explain the information in the letter."

There are about 210 mothers "who would have to be contacted and that would be almost impossible."

Other club officers, who joined her in protest, were Mrs. Doris Rougier, of 278 North street, vice president, and Mrs. Rosemary Christian, of 44 Yeoman street, treasurer.

Ask All Inoculated
"The mothers feel that the other children should be inoculated to protect them," Mrs. Parker said, citing the fact that the disease could spread "now that the children will be out of school and swimming at Kingston Point Beach."

Dr. Josephson's letter, addressed June 17 to "Dear Parent" follows:

"For your information, the Kingston School Medical Department is sending each parent this letter regarding infectious hepatitis."

Takes Up To 35 Days
"It may take from 21 to 35 days to become ill with this disease after exposure most cases come down about the 25th day. The onset is often slow with weakness, fever, headache, abdominal pain, nausea, vomiting, followed in most cases by jaundice of varying degrees of severity. Urine may appear dark in color preceding the jaundice. The stools are frequently clay colored."

"The method of infection—contact with a previous case. Discharges from the nose and throat as well as stools are infectious. Since many cases do not show obvious jaundice, spread may be due to missed cases."

"Hepatitis is quite contagious, but at least one-half the cases are unrecognized since jaundice is mild or absent. It can be prevented by use of gamma globulin in exposed persons."

"The child is excluded from school until fully recovered. Contact your family physician for advice and any further information that you may desire."

Mrs. Parker said inoculation by a family physician would, in some cases, prove "too costly," and cited a family of 16 in her neighborhood.

It also was learned that Dr. Hargrave sent a letter to Dr. Josephson, dated April 16, which read in part:

"As you know, two cases of infectious hepatitis have recently been reported from St. Mary's School. I understand that there is one other possible case, now under treatment, from School No. 3. Approximately two weeks ago we also had two cases in School No. 2. While this has undoubtedly been disturbing to a number of parents, I do not consider this in any sense to be an epidemic situation, at least at the present time."

A pamphlet, issued by the New York State Department of Health, describes hepatitis as a "disease caused by a virus or very small germ that attacks the liver. Because the skin and whites of the eyes may become yellow or jaundiced, it is sometimes called yellow jaundice."

The information noted that infectious hepatitis lasts about six to eight weeks "but recovery is usually complete with no after effects. The disease seldom results in death, and second attacks rarely occur. It is usually milder in children than in adults."

The pamphlet lists three important factors in preventing the disease: 1) Personal hygiene. 2) Good community sanitation, and 3) Gamma globulin.

Modena

Modena, June 21—A planning session for members of Modena Methodist youth fellowship will be conducted this evening, at 7:30 at the church.

Many ideas will be presented for improving work of the MYF. The first program meeting of the group, at the conclusion of the present recess, is set for Sunday, June 30, with an afternoon trip to Lake Mohonk and a sunset service.

A sermon on the topic, "Can God Be Magnified" will be delivered at worship services at Modena and Clintondale Methodist Churches Sunday by the pastor, the Rev. John E. Swords.

Members of the Wesleyan Service Guild of Modena Methodist Church have announced that their variety program in the Community Hall in connection with the old-fashioned strawberry festival Saturday, June 29, will include numbers by Mary Jane Wolbers of New Paltz, Rodney Seitz, Donald Broas and the Rev. Walter Van Popering of Walkkill; Monte Smith of Modena and the Modena Baton Twirlers.

Early registration is requested for children to attend the annual vacation Bible school at Modena, July 1 to 12. Daily schedules start at 8:45 a. m.

Three classes are planned for children attending from the Modena and Gardiner area.

Further plans for the experiment of early morning worship services in the Modena Methodist Church during July and August, were made recently, following the annual Children's Day picnic.

Sunday School classes will continue through the summer months with several parents volunteering to teach.

Children and their teachers will participate in the 8:30 worship service, and will be dismissed for classes before the sermon.

Miss Arlene Bernard is on vacation from her employment in Newburgh.

Firms Want Railroad
Washington, June 21 (AP)—An official of the Interstate Commerce Commission recommends that the Delaware & Hudson Railroad be given conditional authority to abandon a section linking Fort Edward and Lake George, N. Y. Examiner John L. Bradford said yesterday that the railroad had operated the section at a loss for several years.

He said that abandonment should be permitted on condition that the company accept a fair purchase offer from any responsible party desiring to keep it in service. Lumber companies in the Lake George area oppose discontinuance of the line. Bradford said the companies testified that they were ready to make an offer of $430,000 for the whole line to keep it going.

Outlook for Steel Industry Excellent—Good Steel Stocks a Buy

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q Steel stocks have been rising lately. I hold Bethlehem Steel, Crucible and Republic. Should I take profits now?

A. Better action in many steel issues is warranted by the improved outlook for the industry as a whole. The sell-off earlier this year was due in large part to lower new car production and a fall-off in electrical appliance output. In spite of these factors, steel earnings were well maintained in the first quarter, should dip only moderately in the current period and will probably gain in the final half. Heavy construction is rising and has caused a shortage in some grades of steel. The industry must provide a substantial wage increase this July under last year's agreement, and it is expected that a rise in steel prices sufficient to more than offset the added costs will follow.

I believe that you would be well advised to hold Bethlehem Steel, Crucible and Republic. Bethlehem Steel is a well-rounded company, less dependent than most upon new car demands. Over 10% of revenues comes from the shipbuilding division which is currently booming. Crucible is a specialty company, with a strong position in stainless steel. Only 26% of its business is automotive. Republic ranks third in the industry and is very well integrated. The company is a half-owner of Cra-Met, a big titanium sponge producer. In addition to the stocks you are holding, I like Eastern Stainless, another specialty company; Inland Steel, with a strong position in the Chicago area, and National Steel, expected to get the services as Chairman of Secretary of Treasury George Humphrey following his retirement from Government Service.

CARBORUNDUM CO. HAS STRONG GROWTH APPEAL

Q My uncle recently died and left me 200 shares of Carborundum. Can you tell me something about the stock? I am in my mid-30s and can afford to take some risk, if you think it has good prospects.

A. Carborundum has strong growth prospects and I certainly would advise your holding it. It is a well-established, old-line concern soundly financed and with a good profit record. The important feature in the company's favor, however, is that it is engaged in an expansion and reorganization program which should upgrade its current products and place it squarely into atomic energy and related fields. Carborundum will shortly open a new plant for the production of the important metal zirconium, and is developing other products with applications in atomic energy, gas turbines, aircraft and guided missiles. The stock has acted well in the market recently and I think that commencing in 1958, substantial earnings gains will be witnessed.

TRUE OR FALSE?
Stocks that are split show a greater price gain soon after the split than in the interval shortly before the split.

FALSE. This is a generally accepted concept, but facts prove otherwise. Statistics show that most stocks experience a substantially greater price advance in the 60 to 90 days before a split than in the period soon after. In fact, following a split announcement, many stocks begin to lose their pre-split gains.

The basic reason splits are made is that the company desires to broaden its stock ownership and attract a wider following for the stock in a more popular price area. Frequently, a split is accompanied by a higher dividend payment. Both of these factors tend to cause the stock to sell higher in the market. However, professional investors have a pretty good idea ahead of time when stock splits may be expected. Consequently, substantial buying often begins well ahead of the split. Often there are rumors of an impending split and considerable speculative buying for a short-term profit comes into the issue. Thus, by the time of the actual announcement of the split, the stock has largely if not wholly discounted the news, and profit-taking by early buyers causes the stock to sell off.

Reds Say Korean Arms Buildup Is Plan for War

Panmunjom, Korea, June 21 (AP)—The UN Command today voided the Korean armistice ban on new weapons to match the Communist buildup in North Korea.

Murray Snyder, U. S. assistant secretary of defense, said in Washington that the new arms would include jet aircraft which can carry atomic arms, but "at this time no atomic weapons are being given to ground forces." He refused to say whether atomic ammunition would be stored at Korean bases for use against an attack.

To Observe Cease-Fire
The UN side declared it would continue to observe "fully" the cease-fire provision and all other points in the 1953 armistice agreement.

The Communist Command promptly charged the UN with attempting to make South Korea an atomic base and prepare for a new war.

North Korean Maj. Gen. Chung Kook Rook declared impulsively: "We are vehemently opposed to equipping UN forces with new types of weapons, wrecking the armistice agreement and perpetuating the UN occupation of South Korea."

Reply Called Mild
U. S. Marine Corps Maj. Gen. Homer L. Litzberg, senior member of the UN Command, notified the North Korean and Chinese Communists of the UN decision at a meeting in the truce hut in the demilitarized zone. Litzberg said the Red reply was "milder than I expected."

"I did not interpret it as a Red threat to resume the fighting that ended with the July 27, 1953, truce," he added.

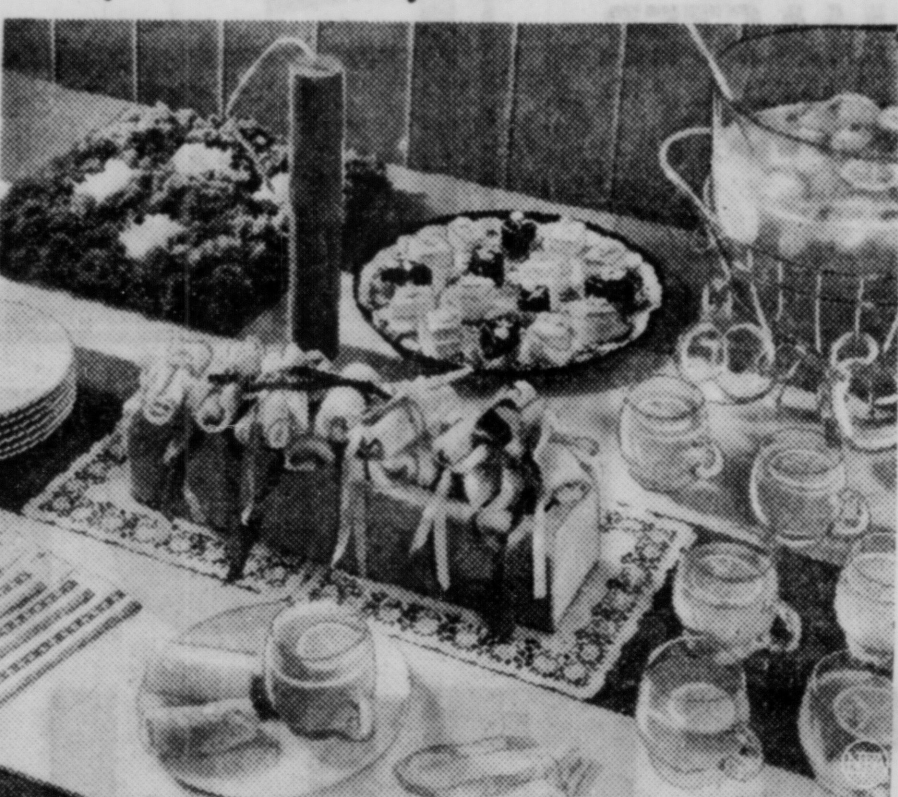

Discuss Ocean Race
Annapolis, Md., June 21 (AP)—Skippers of 50 ocean racers talked of wind and weather today as they awaited the start of one of the east coast's toughest yacht races—a 468-mile run from Annapolis to Newport, R. I.

The race, which is being run on a reverse course this year for the first time, gets underway at noon tomorrow with a record field of entries. It is really two races in one—a test of seamanship in the fickle winds and currents down Chesapeake Bay and a set of different tactics and strategy in a run up the Atlantic coast to Newport.

Smooth edges with clean cheesecloth. Costs only a few cents to make.

Stars: Place a 12-inch by 12-inch tray in upper left-hand corner. Fill with blue bachelorette and white carnations.

Wheat Farmers Vote to Continue Federal Quotas

New York state wheat farmers voted along with others throughout the nation yesterday to continue federal marketing quotas on next year's wheat crop.

Empire State farmers favored the continuation of the quotas by a 582 to 344 vote.

The unofficial count from the 36 commercial-producing states in which the balloting was conducted gave 143,233 for and 28,833 against the Agriculture Department's control program.

That was a favorable majority of 83.3 per cent—in far excess of the necessary two-thirds. It compared with a majority of 87.5 per cent given quotas in a similar referendum a year ago.

Reports of strong opposition in the southern Great Plains failed to materialize. Growers decided to accept the none-too-popular production restrictions in return for a government guarantee of higher prices than they could have counted on otherwise.

The department had announced that if quotas were approved, it would support the 1958 crop at an average of $1.78 a bushel, but would drop this to about $1.19 if quotas were rejected.

Trailer Camp

to the aid of his clients following their arrest.

The defendants refused to be arraigned under the charges on the grounds they could not be taken from the custody of the police officers to whom they had been remanded by Justice Mac-holdt.

A hurry call was sent to County Judge Bruhn and the four defendants were later brought to the Court House by deputies where County Judge Bruhn is sued writs of habeas corpus and on appearance of the four defendants before him the matter was adjourned until Tuesday next when the matter will be argued under the writs. All four were placed in the custody of their counsel.

Counsel for defendants reported today that "another promise" not to press violations of the trailer ordinance had been given last night by town of Ulster Attorney Louis DiDonna until the matters now pending before Judge Bruhn have been heard on Tuesday.

The arraignment of the four defendants was held at the Lake Katrine Grange hall.

The same evening the trailer operators were being haled into court for a second time on charges of violation of the town ordinance, the validity of which is being attacked in the Supreme Court, a meeting was held to discuss the situation.

John Coldburn, president of the Hudson Valley Section of the New York State Trailer Association, attended the meeting as well as other prominent persons identified with the trailer camp situation. It was reported the meeting was attended by "over 150 persons" who protested the action being taken by the town against proprietors of trailer camps while the matter is being heard before the courts.

Pending before Judge Bruhn is the habeas corpus proceedings and also proceedings to have the cases removed from the jurisdiction of Justice of the Peace Mac-holdt on the grounds he, as an officer of the town of Ulster and a member of the body which approved the trailer camp ordinance, is disqualified to sit in judgment of those arrested on charges of violating the ordinance which is under attack on constitutional grounds.

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 21 (AP)—The stock market drifted lower in dull trading early this afternoon.

Losses among key stocks ran from fractions to around 2 points, but there was a fair assortment of gainers in about the same range.

The market was slightly higher at the start as it firmed after three days of decline that brought the average down to about where it was in early May when the market began to reach new highs for 1957.

Some fair losses appeared in steels, motors and oils but copper stocks were generally higher after their recent retreat and aircrafts recovered partially from their setback late yesterday.

On the American Stock Exchange change prices were mixed in slow trading.

Corporate bonds declined. U. S. Government bonds continued lower in quiet dealings.

Flu Hits Crew

Newport, R. I., June 21 (AP)—The virus influenza which has been spreading through Asiatic countries hit the Atlantic Fleet destroyer force here on June 3 and affected some 500 sailors aboard eight ships, the navy announced today. The navy described the epidemic as mild in that it was detected on only eight of the 110 Newport-based ships and affected only two per cent of 27,500 sailors.

ALL QUIET ON GAZA FRONT—Guarding the peaceful (for now) border between Israel and the Gaza Strip, these Danish soldiers of the United Nations Emergency Force split up the job of sentry duty, with two catching up on their reading as the third maintains a cheerful watch. Each post along the border is manned by three soldiers at all times. On the night trick, no lying down is permitted.

Medical Society

chairman of the county medical society's public relations committee.

"The medical society is quite concerned that the matter be settled promptly. I'm sure it can be satisfactorily adjusted."

Once the matter is placed before the society's five-man mediation committee—composed of "elder statesmen" of the county's medical profession—it can be adjudicated in a day or two, Dr. Raffle said.

Agree With Procedure

He said he had spoken to both Dr. Kris and Mrs. Hooper on the telephone, urging that the procedure be adopted, and "both indicated to me they would be glad to do so."

He said he now will ask the Hoopers to make formal submission of their problem by postcard or letter.

The parents have said that, while they are grateful to Dr. Kris for his efforts in the case, their economic predicament is such that they cannot pay a medical bill as high as $1,500.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Hooper and her celebrated 6-year-old son appeared on NBC-TV's "Today" program this morning, and the mother repeated her story of the family financial plight.

Won't Exploit Boy

"We had offers to go out and make money," she said at one point, "but we turned them down because we didn't want to exploit the boy."

An NBC spokesman said the mother and son received no pay for appearing on the show.

Young Benny, 6, was trapped May 16 in a well shaft dug by his father at their modest home in this rural Long Island community. He had fallen in while playing with a chum from next door.

It took nearly 24 hours of frantic rescue work by scores of volunteer laborers to free the boy alive after hope had all but vanished. The happy ending to that effort, however, was soon dimmed by harsh rumors, dissension and worry.

Bitterness Over Hero

The man who supervised rescue operations, Mike Stizir, said there is bitterness over the heroic role assigned to Sam Woodson, a Negro employee of his construction firm who brought the boy out of the well. Stizir said other men actually did more but were overlooked.

Rumors have circulated in this rural community on eastern Long Island that the Hoopers have profited from the sensational rescue of their son, and that all the publicity has made them snooty.

The Hoopers say the rumors are untrue, they aren't snooty, they haven't received much money, and mainly they're just worried because the near-tragedy caused them financial trouble.

"We haven't got the money, that's what's worrying us," said the father, Benjamin K. Hooper, in commenting on the doctor's bill. He takes home $62 a week as a highway work foreman. His wife makes an after-tax $43 a week as a telephone operator, but has taken a month off to take care of Benny and rest up after her ordeal.

The Hoopers said they received thousands of letters from well-wishers, but a cash total of less than $400 in the letters.

Fire Cripples GE Plant

Pittsfield, Mass., June 21 (AP)—Manufacturing operations at the General Electric Co. plant here were crippled today by fire in a transformer which last night left 11 communities without power for almost a half hour. About 1,000 workers on the second and third shifts at the plant were ordered not to report for work last night because of the fire in the GE transformer. Officials said most manufacturing operations would be closed today.

He called the bill "about one-half of the amount to which I am entitled."

Dr. Kris, an anesthesiologist, maintained constant and apparently tireless watch of the 24-foot hole in which Benny was trapped, and supervised the successful efforts to keep the child supplied with oxygen. He attended Benny at nearby Bayview Hospital after the rescue.

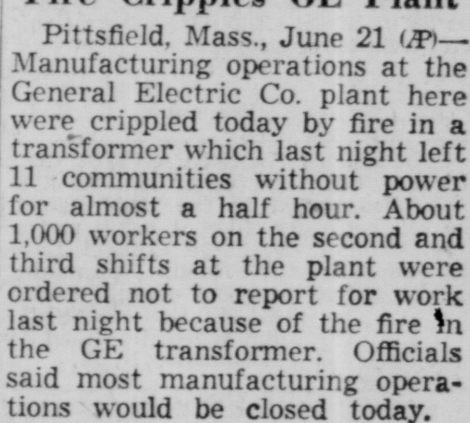

He said yesterday his colleagues had told him he would be foolish not to submit a bill.

"The time I put in was eight full days and close to 100 hours," he said. "My time is worth $30 an hour. I think the bill is a fair amount to charge."

He called the bill "about one-half of the amount to which I am entitled."

Columbus, Ohio (AP) — Sentimental Ohio State senators recently voted down a bill to trap and destroy the hoard of pigeons roosting on the capitol building when a cagey senator brought a demure-looking pigeon into the chamber to "face its accusers." The pigeon cooed and the Senate defeated the bill 19 to 13.

Grand Jury May Get Lanza Case Next Week

New York, June 21 (AP)—The district attorney's office says the case of Joseph (Socks) Lanza, who refused to answer questions of the Legislative "Watchdog" Committee, probably will be submitted to a Manhattan grand jury early next week.

The spokesman did not say what charges were being considered.

Also to be submitted to the grand jury are the similar refusals to answer questions of Lanza's brother, Harry, and restaurant owner Louis (The Hood) Georgiano.

All three refused to answer the committee's questions Wednesday and pleaded the Fifth Amendment. The committee is trying to find out whether a political fix was responsible for Lanza's release from jail for parole violation last February.

Lanza, who has since been re-arrested, was convicted of extortion. He is the former rackets boss of the Fulton Fish Market and onetime Democratic party power.

Slayer Takes Own Life in Woodland In Upstate Area

Canton, N. Y., June 21 (AP)—A great manhunt ended in the woods last night with the finding of the body of a young dairy farmer who had killed his estranged wife and her parents.

State police said Richard Cota 27, shot himself in the head with the rifle he had used on his wife and in-laws in this St. Lawrence Valley community at midday yesterday. Cota had been released from a mental hospital just last month.

Dist. Atty. Richard Bowers theorized that Cota had attempted a reconciliation with his wife and that violence was his reaction when it failed.

Mrs. Janette Cota, 27; her father, Clifton Duval Sr., 49; and Mrs. Duval, 48, were shot with a .30-06 rifle in the Duvals' apartment over a garage here.

Escapes in Car

Cota fled in an automobile, which was found in the afternoon, abandoned on a road 12 miles southwest of Canton. Bloodhounds led troopers to his body early in the evening.

A physician who was treating Mrs. Cota and the Cotas' two children, Marcia, 3½, and Stephen, almost 2, were in the Duval apartment during the shootings but were not harmed.

Mrs. Cota called police a short time after he arrived at the apartment, about 10 a. m. She complained that her husband had struck her. When police arrived, Cota was not there.

She also summoned Dr. Eric Schaeffer, a Potsdam physician, who arrived a short time before Cota returned.

The doctor told the Associated Press he went into the bedroom with Mrs. Cota and Mrs. Duval. "There was a bruise on her

Harriman Says More Two-Year Colleges Needed

New York, June 21 (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman says New York state needs more two-year community colleges.

A new one is opening in Oyster Bay Sept. 18. Its board members had Harriman with them at luncheon in the Columbia University Club yesterday and he told them "two or three more" such colleges are needed on Long Island alone.

Harriman predicted the demand for higher education in the state will rise 70 to 100 per cent during the next 13 years, and that the State University, which controls the two-year colleges, must expand to meet the need.

The two-year colleges are supported by the state, the local community and the students; each paying one-third. So far, 13 of them have been created upstate and another is being organized.

The practice of giving girl's names to hurricanes originated in 1953.

Succession of Shots

A single shot was fired in the living room, he said, and Mrs. Duval rushed out of the bedroom. Another shot followed.

The killer then appeared at the bedroom door and fired twice at his wife. "I don't think he saw me," the physician added.

The children apparently were in the living room when their grandparents were killed. They ran into the bedroom weeping.

Authorities said Cota was arrested for disorderly conduct in March during a farmers' milk strike. He was sent to the St. Lawrence State Hospital at Ogdensburg for observation. He was released May 4.

Denies Separation

Santa Monica, Calif., June 21 (AP)—Terry Moore's husband says that he and the young actress—who sued him for divorce Monday—aren't separated. There "has been no separation of the parties," claimed Charles Eugene McGrath, 35, in filing his answer to Miss Moore's suit. The actress admitted to a newsman yesterday that she didn't know "what will happen" in her divorce suit, which accused the wealthy Panamanian businessman of gambling and "illicit relations" with women.

Accord Notes

Decorating With Mirrors

Some time ago I had dinner in a restaurant in New York's Chinatown. It was a very small place, but as I entered I had an impression of almost limitless space. The reason was soon apparent. One entire wall had been mirrored, and the restaurant was reflected in an endless vista.

Here is a decorating trick that can be adapted, to a greater or lesser degree, to the average small home. Place a mirror over a mantel and the whole opposite wall becomes alive and sparkling. Or hang one on the long wall above a sofa. Again, you might place one at the end of a dark, windowless hall, or near an entrance door for the convenience of family and guests.

At the Accord Furniture & TV Mart on Route 209 in Accord (just a short drive from Kingston) you will find a wide selection of mirrors of various types and sizes. Also name brand furniture, such as Pennsylvania House, Valentine Seaver, Krochler, Barcalo and many others. Lamps, pictures and rugs are also displayed for your consideration. All at guaranteed lowest prices. Free decorating assistance. Come in and browse at will through the Mart any weekday from 9 to 5:30, Saturdays to 7, and on Sundays it's "open house" from 2 to 6. Closed Wednesdays during July and August.

Think It Through

By E. F. HUTTON

Neighbor, what think you about passing over—lock, stock and barrel—the business of the Post Office to Free Enterprise? I'm making the suggestion seriously.

Americans are concerned about taxes, and the Post Office Department costs about 500 million $'s yearly over and above what it collects in postage. This adds to our taxes. Further, people are howling about the Postal Service.

I know Arthur Summerfield. He's a smart guy. General Ike rewarded him with the office of Postmaster General for political services rendered. Arthur made his dough as a Free Enterpriser. Now he has got his feet wet in a Socialistic venture.

So here's a chance to set up a new corporation—The American Post Office Corporation. This idea has top merit.

When, if ever, did the Post Office balance its books with an even break? Name one year in the past 100.

Arthur, you make a bid! Head it up; take the Post Office out of the subsidy business; and put it on its feet. Here's a chance to prove that our valorous and venturesome spirit of risk taking can handle the mail. And those who purchase shares in the new company will be rewarded with a decent profit. And, Mr. Financier—and other underwriters, permit the Mary and Joe Doaks to get in the deal on the ground floor.

Please send this to Postmaster General Summerfield, Washington, D. C.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

We wait for summer all winter, especially when we have a rugged winter and then when it comes we cannot stand the heat. Weather controls our conversation, our disposition, our buying, our every comfort. Yet, we here, live in what one could call a pleasant climate. We do not have dust storms, tornados. Our floods can no doubt be finally controlled by science. The Indians knew that the tiniest stream swells up with snow from the mountains and in the spring freshets really takes over the entire countryside. In Ulster county we can ride out of the city during a hot humid evening towards Woodstock, or towards Port Ewen and find a cool spot.

Today folks are building homes overlooking cool mountains and the Hudson river. We can get away from our hot sidewalks much more easily than Manhattan folks in the natural way, not necessarily with air-conditioners. I remember how every hot summer folks went to sleep at 4 Ashokan Dam, and they are still doing it. Now we have the beach again at the Point. We used to have Tucker's Beach in Port Ewen in my time, and we went to Greenkill Part too. There are a lot of new places and will be more, and some day we may even have a pool right in the city of Kingston.

We have four seasons and every year they are about the same, but you know what, we have a very bad memory. For instance, the same folks seem to get good and sunburned every summer just from one day in the sun. The same folks that suffer so from poison ivy get it every summer because they go near that three leaf plant that sometimes is just on the ground and sometimes climbs on a wall or tree. I often wondered why in school we were not taught just a little about the poison leaves, how to spot them and avoid them, and how to kill the plant. Also why sunburn will peel your skin and not tan you. Just why folks want to brown up like an overdone piece of toast I cannot understand. Do they think, they will be healthy, or look healthy or what.

As a youngster I was no smarter than the rest. I used to go down to the beach and on a quick hot day I got sunburned good and proper on my shoulders and back and my father had to put up with me through the night. As a rule, his orders were, "You cannot leave the house for the beach before 4 p. m., then the sun isn't so hot." My lament would be, "But Pa, the tide will be low then, they'll be no water. He told me in the old county folks never went swimming in the hot sun. In fact, they took two hours off for lunch during the hot weather. Then he would tell me to always sit with a towel draped over my shoulders. He also said that coming out of the water, my body was covered with beads, of water which acted like magnifying glasses for the sun and that is why I burned so. Anyway I pass this along to anyone who desires to pass it on to other little ones.

I do not know why but the city and county seems to be loaded with poison ivy. It gets worse every year. In some locality they have equipment and men who spend days getting rid of it, and also golden-rod which affects some folks very much. A lot of the Catskill Mountain vacation area make it a practice to follow the section and then let the folks in New York know that they are free of it. I never seen anyone fighting it around here, yet I understand we have experts right in town who have done that type of work. I used to love to pick any kind of wild flowers, but never when my father was looking, because he was afraid I would touch poison grass of some sort. He saved me a lot of grief, through the years. Every year I mention the project of killing poison ivy and goldenrod but nothing happens around here.

Church Merger Plan Opposed in Court

New York, June 21 (AP)—Efforts to merge the 1,379,000-member Congregational Christian Church with the 800,000-member Evangelical and Reformed Church are being challenged in Federal Court here.

A similar suit brought in New York state courts in 1949 was thrown out after a four-year court battle that a Brooklyn church appealed up to the state's highest court.

In the new suit, four Congregational churches and a number of clerical and lay members asked the Federal Court yesterday to nullify provisions of the document calling for the merger.

The protesting churches are at Burlington, Iowa; Pontiac, Mich.; Wauwatosa, Wis., and Toledo, Ohio. Their petition

Evangelist May Continue on TV After Crusade

New York, June 21 (AP)—Billy Graham may be thinking of a regular television pulpit, once his New York crusade is over.

Although the evangelist hasn't said so, there have been hints in that direction. And he says he has been deeply impressed by the results of his current weekly TV appearances.

A weekly flood of 50,000 letters from across the country has followed the three Saturday night crusade meetings televised so far. Many are from persons saying that hearing him won them to Christian faith.

Great Possibilities

"The possibilities are tremendous," he said last night.

Graham has said he has other plans in this area after the crusade closes July 21, but isn't ready to make them public. A crusade official, asked last night if Graham might continue his TV preaching beyond the crusade, said:

"It's liable to be. You can't tell. There's a terrific interest in this thing."

As for the Madison Square Garden crusade, attendance for the past week has been down an average of more than 1,000 below the near-capacity level of the previous four weeks, but officials said it's a customary—but temporary—midway dip.

Crowds Still Huge

"It's a normal lull," said Willis G. Haymaker, a Graham team executive. He said a small drop about half-way through crusades has been a characteristic pattern, then the numbers shoot up again.

Even with the slackening off, the nightly audiences still are huge ones—16,000 last night—and the record for attendance and "decisions for Christ" surpasses anything yet in Graham's career of evangelism.

"We've seen twice as many give their lives to Christ in these five weeks as in any whole crusade we've ever conducted in the United States," he said.

Largest previous number was 9,000 in six weeks in Portland, Ore., compared to the 20,611 here in five weeks, 559 of them last night. The total also exceeds that for a six-week period of Graham's London crusade, where he often held several meetings a day instead of only one.

'Father of History'

The Greek historian, Herodotus, is called the "Father of History," his being the first history to be written in an organized, chronological manner.

claims each Congregational Church is independent and the general council has no power to conduct the merger in their behalf.

Individual plaintiffs include the ministers of the four churches, several laymen, and the Rev. Harry R. Butman, minister of the Congregational Church of the Messiah in Los Angeles.

Bard to Receive Final Foundation Payment Check

Bard College, Annandale-on-Hudson, is among 630 privately-supported colleges and universities which this week will receive checks totaling $130,172,500 as the Ford Foundation's second and final payment under its program to help raise faculty salaries.

The sum represents approximately one half of a $260 million appropriation voted by the Foundation in 1955. Initial payments were made in July, 1956.

Bard's final payment is listed as $90,000 from a total grant of $175,000.

It is also among 126 of the institutions which have received $50 million in accomplishment grants approximating one half of their 1954-55 faculty payrolls.

Total accomplishment grant was listed as $108,500 with the final payment $58,500.

The recipients are institutions emphasizing liberal arts and sciences that had previously demonstrated leadership in their own regions in improving the status and compensation of their teachers. These accomplishment grants may be used either to raise faculty salaries or for other pressing academic needs, the Foundation noted.

A Bakers Union Hearing Board, meanwhile, notified Cross' chief accuser, suspended union Secretary-Treasurer Curtis R. Actors Ask Deals
Be Called Valid

Washington, June 21 (AP)—Hollywood stars Kirk Douglas and Gordon MacRae have asked the U. S. Tax Court for rulings that their multi-million dollar investments in government securities in 1953, made with borrowed funds, were valid business actions.

The MacRae suit, filed yesterday in the name of Albert Gordon MacRae, showed that the Internal Revenue Service, in billing the singer for $115,940 in additional tax and penalties for that year, described the transactions as being "for the purpose of tax avoidance."

A $170,623 claim against Douglas, based on identical circumstances, simply said the $200,000 interest the actor paid on the borrowed money, "is not interest" within the meaning of the Revenue Code, "and is not deductible for income tax purposes."

Douglas in 1953 paid taxes on a reported net income of $50,277. He said in his suit filed yesterday that during that year he borrowed about nine million dollars from the Gibraltar Financial Corp. and used this to buy U. S. Treasury notes and federal bank bonds at a discount.

Port Ewen Sets School Meeting On June 26th

The annual meeting of the board of trustees of the new Port Ewen School District will be held at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday, June 26, at the school.

The board will present an estimated budget for the school years 1957-58 at that time.

C. Oakley Maynard, chairman of the board, today urged taxpayers and residents of the district to attend the meeting.

The annual meeting has been twice postponed because of questions involved in the proposed Greater Kingston Area Consolidation, Mr. Maynard said.

He explained that certain budget items depend on the consolidation decision.

Kingston has agreed to accept pupils in the seventh and eighth grades and high school from the Port Ewen District for the next school year, Mr. Maynard said.

Members of the board, besides Mr. Maynard, are Vernon Frost and Floyd Elsworth. Mr. Elsworth will be succeeded by Zale Liese on June 30.

J. Wilson Tinney is now serving as secretary but will be succeeded July 1 by Principal Robert Graves as clerk and general administrator.

Graduate Course In Art Announced At Paltz College

Inauguration of a graduate program in art education at the State University Teachers College, New Paltz, was announced recently by Dr. William J. Haggerty, president.

The first art graduate courses, under the direction of Dr. Ralph L. Wickiser, chairman of the art education division, will be offered during the 1957 Summer session, scheduled July 1 to August 9.

Enrollment Increases

President Haggerty explained that the college started its undergraduate major program in art education in 1951 and that enrollment has continued to increase tremendously since that time.

"The increased interest in art education," he said, "has led to the development of the graduate program."

He added that the new fine arts building which is being planned will greatly facilitate the continued expansion of the entire art education program.

Leading to the degree of master of science, the new graduate program will provide opportunity for art teachers to increase their competence in the teaching profession. This is an in-service program for teachers of art, designed to broaden and deepen their knowledge of areas of art experience. Courses include the development of art abilities, an understanding of teaching, and an extension of the student's cultural background.

May Quality

Students working toward the master's degree in this program may qualify for certification as art teachers in elementary schools and high schools and as supervisors of art.

Definite regulations for admission to graduate as well as admission to candidacy for the degree of Master of Science have been provided, and complete details concerning the course work and admission requirements may be obtained from the Chairman of the Division of Graduate Studies, State University Teachers College, New Paltz.

"Pea," in this sense, comes from the Dutch word "pij," meaning a coarse, woolen coat.

Predict Dutchess Fair in August to Set New Record

With all outside grounds space already sold, and three-fourths of the commercial exhibit buildings area under contract, Dutchess County Fair Secretary Richard C. Murray today predicted that this year's fair "will be even bigger than our record fair last year."

The fair will play in Rhinebeck for six days and six nights, August 23 through 28.

Completion of the new Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge, making it quick and easy for west shore residents to reach the Rhinebeck showgrounds this year, will be a major factor in building up fair attendance, predicted Mr. Murray.

Groom Buildings

The grounds and buildings at Rhinebeck already are being groomed for the thousands of free exhibits, and for the thousands of Hudson Valley residents who will make the annual pilgrimage.

Just this week two more permanent cattle sheds were completed—another step closer to the day when there will be no further need for livestock tents.

The two new sheds, each 45 by 150 feet, make available five large sheds for open class show cattle in addition to the three sheds owned by the 4-H clubs.

To Resurface Roads

Blacktop roads throughout the fairgrounds will receive a new surface in the next few weeks, and permanent roads will be extended further. Exhibit buildings, too, will have a facelift.

Mr. Murray said premium books for this year's fair will roll off the presses in the next few days, and will be mailed to those who exhibited at last year's Dutchess County fair. New exhibitors, who propose to participate this year, may obtain a book by writing to Postoffice Box 142, Rhinebeck.

Prison Strike Is Thought Result Of Curdled Milk

Attica, N. Y., June 21 (AP)—The sit-down strike of 748 prisoners at Attica Prison Wednesday noon has been labeled a "spontaneous action," apparently touched off by discontent over food at one meal.

State Correction Commissioner Thomas J. McHugh said a preliminary investigation turned up no weapons and no plans for a wide-spread strike.

He said the atmosphere in the state's maximum security prison the day after the strike was "completely normal."

McHugh said yesterday that about 25 prisoners, believed to have been the "hard core" of the group, were questioned about the cause of the 2½-hour sit-down strike at lunch.

Tell About Milk

"Some of them told us milk poured over hot cereal at breakfast curdled," he said. "Others said it was sour."

"It appears they talked about it among themselves during a break after breakfast and urged others to stage a sit-down strike at lunchtime."

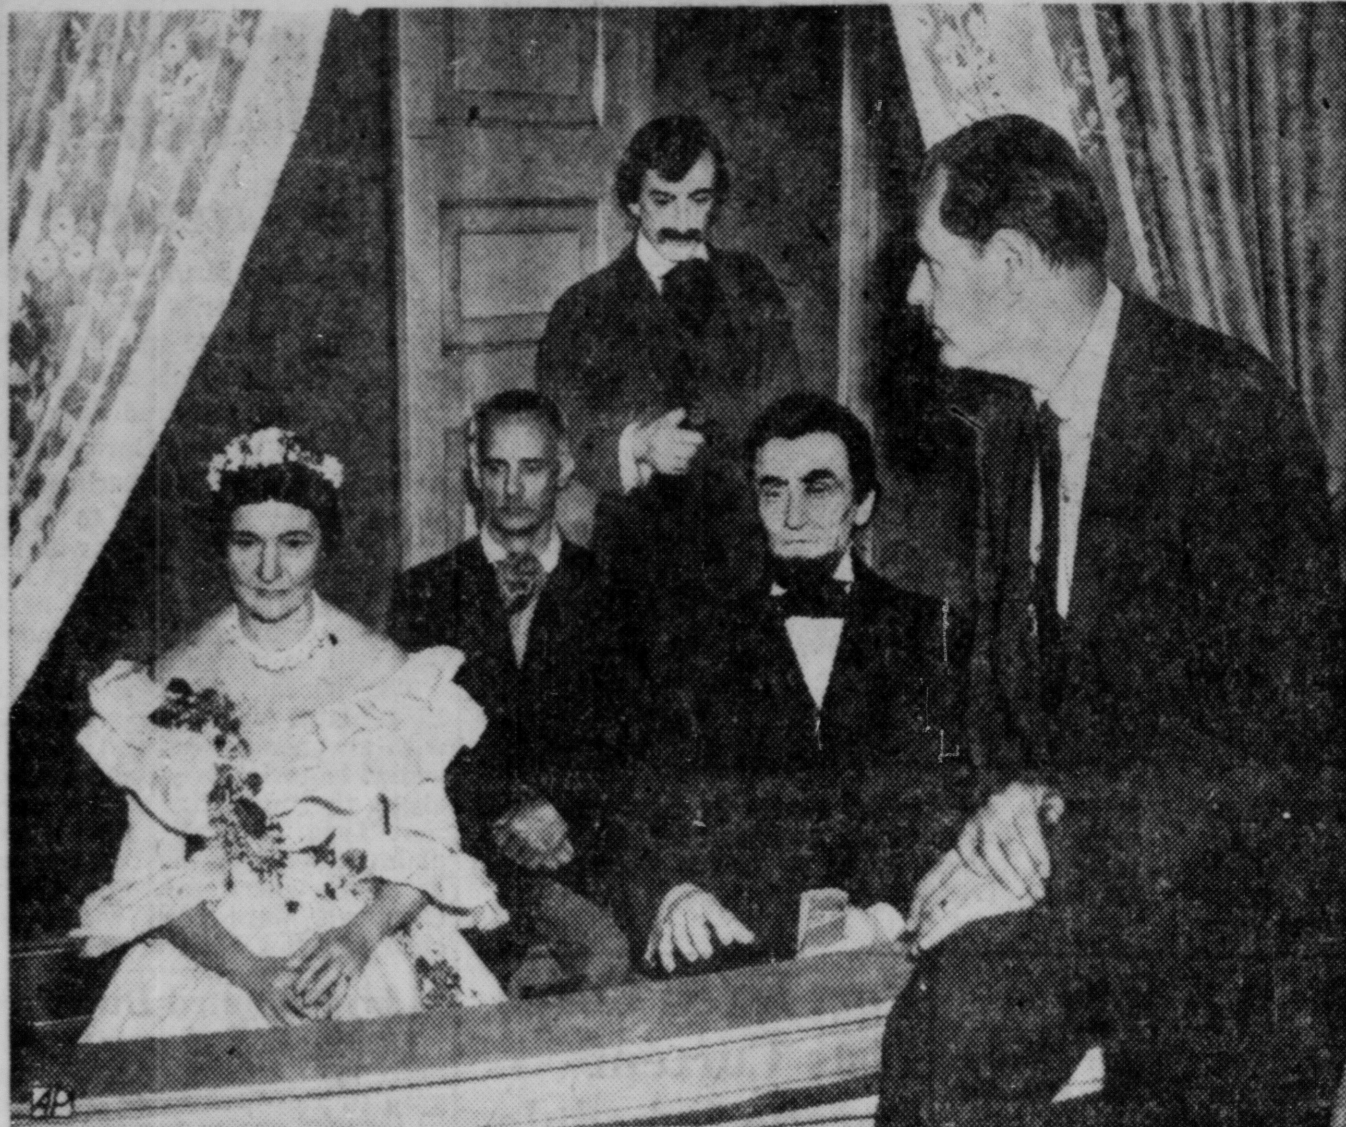

"It's my belief," he said, "that it was a pretty spontaneous action."

He said any found responsible for the demonstration would face disciplinary action.

After refusing to take anything at lunch besides coffee, the prisoners, about one-third of the 2,056 inmates, sat at the tables in the mess hall for about 2½ hours. The guards waited the men out until they were ready to return to their cell blocks.

They were escorted to their cells in groups without further incident.

Kiwanis Is Taken On Guided Tour By Use of Slides

"New York Has Everything" was the subject of a colored slide lecture presented before the Kiwanis Club at its Thursday noon luncheon meeting by representatives of the New York Telephone Company.

The slides were projected on a panoramic screen with a special projector, and were in the nature of a "guided tour" of points of interest in New York city—

"which has the biggest and most complex telephone system in the world," according to Mrs. Mabel Anderson, representative of the telephone company.

Prior to the program, Chester Baltz Jr., chairman of the Kiwanis Scholarship committee, presented the recipients of Kiwanis scholarships as luncheon guests of the club.

In attendance from the local high school graduating class were: Patricia Thompson, Eileen Tiano, Mary Duffner, Mary Latz, Jean Sickles, Delores Albrecht, Henry Ketterer Jr., Robert Fisher, David W. Eighmey, Edward LeWare and Edward Terpening.

Reforestation Is Revived in State

Big Moose, N. Y., June 21 (AP)—The Conservation Department is again buying land for reforestation, Commissioner Sharon J. Mauchs said today.

He told his advisory committee that eight parcels totaling 1,738 acres had been purchased since April 1, when $50,000 in state funds became available.

The money was the first appropriation made for reforestation land since 1950.

The advisory committee, at its January meeting, recommended to Mauchs that the program be reactivated.

Under the state constitution, reforestation areas cannot be leased, sold or exchanged. They must be dedicated to forestry and wildlife management, but are open to public hunting and fishing.

The program, begun in 1929, was intended originally to help solve the problem of abandoned farmland. By 1950, a total of 550,427 acres had been acquired in 34 counties at a cost of 14 million dollars.

Of the new parcels under purchase contract, four in Lewis county total 1,126 acres, two in Chenango county total 265 acres and two in St. Lawrence county total 347 acres.

Because of low cost and maximum results, the economical classified ad is used by more every day. Join the throng, begin using classified ads today.

State to Test
Reflectorized
Car Licenses

Albany, June 21 (AP)—The state will test this year a new type of automobile license plate, with reflectorized numerals and letters made to resist rust and wear.

The Motor Vehicle Bureau said yesterday that 2,000 experimental plates would be issued to local and state officials. They will be asked to substitute the plates for their own and return them next year for examination. The numbers will be the same.

The bureau said the regular 1958 plates were being painted with an enamel resistant to salt water. Motorists have complained about the durability of the current type of plate. The complaints have been most numerous in areas where salt and other chemicals were used widely in clearing snow from streets.

BABSON on BUSINESS

BABSON DISCUSSES
AUTOMOBILE CONGESTION

Babson Park, Mass., June 21—Of two things I am certain, either radical steps must be taken to head off the increasing automobile congestion in cities, or else the sale of automobiles will decline. Either a hundred billion dollars must be expended for road improvements, or else readers had better sell their General Motors stocks on the next good rise. Furthermore, I believe that instead of spending money on new turnpikes, it would be better to double the width of our ordinary two-lane roads, making four lanes with a barrier in the middle. However, this would increase the congestion in cities.

City Legislation Needed

Of course, the first thing which all cities should do is to keep all trucks off streets during the busy hours—with deliveries permitted only between 6 p. m. and 8 p. m. This should be done at once, in every city having a population of over 50,000. The next step would be to eliminate all parking on downtown streets. A start has been made on this; but the problem has not been tackled heroically. Parking meters are a step in the right direction, but they are not the ultimate solution.

Frankly, if I were a young man today, instead of going into the automobile business, I would purchase land for a good downtown parking lot and gradually build a chain of parking lots. It seems as if garages for parking would be a good investment if properly located. I shall watch with interest the new mechanical "pushbutton garages" and note how they "take." I understand that such an open-air four-story garage costs about $400,000. At any rate, my guess is that during the years ahead there may be more money in parking automobiles than in selling automobiles! Wise are the city authorities who now spend money to buy up old buildings and install parking lots. In fact, such parking lots are a city's main hope, combined with proper advertising and service for downtown retail stores. In this connection I repeat a former forecast that all new retail stores will be larger, will be confined to one floor, and that the clerks will be on roller skates.

Motorscooters, Roller Skates

If parking on streets is eliminated, this will speed up traffic and should help the bus companies of each city. On the other hand, more traffic lights should be installed at crossroads. The speedier the traffic, the more traffic lights will be needed. The question is, how will the waits and congestion at these cross streets be eliminated? This brings me back to Sir Isaac Newton's great basic Law of Action and Reaction.

Automobiles will only continue to grow longer for a period, after which a reaction will set in and cars will be made shorter and shorter. Shorter cars, however, will not end the congestion at street crossings. In accordance with the Law of Action and Reaction, when the sale of cars begins to decline, the sale of motorscooters, bicycles and roller skates will begin to increase. Now let me give my final forecast on the solution of the traffic problem.

Overhead Throughways

In most cities, awnings are now permissible for retail stores. These provide protection to pedestrians against both rain and extreme sunshine. In most cities there are miles of these awnings over the sidewalks. My forecast is that these awnings will be replaced by throughways for the use of motorscooters, bicycles and perhaps foot passengers on roller skates. These throughways could be overhanging from the buildings just as the awnings now are; but they would be built by the city authorities and a small toll charge could be made for their use. They would be no wider than the sidewalks and would be elevated over all streets. This would enable a cyclist to go from the city line into the heart of the city without stopping for crossroads or intersections.

These elevated "throughways" would serve also as protection from rain and sun to pedestrians on the sidewalks below. They would have to park vehicles. Cities would soon be repaid for building these elevated "throughways" by increased assessments. They would make the second stories as valuable as the first floors.

Variety in Baby's Diet Is Important

"Just as important as feeding babies the right foods is conditioning them to enjoy the large number of different foods they'll need to stay healthy throughout their lives," said R. Craig Campbell of Mead Johnson & Company, Evansville, Indiana. Mr. Campbell is vice president and general manager of the firm's Pabulum Products Division.

"Nutrition experts generally agree that variety in baby's diet helps him learn to like different tastes and textures. This appreciation later helps him enjoy a balanced diet and develop a hearty taste for the different foods he needs."

Mr. Campbell commenting on the introduction by Pabulum of a new ASSORTED PAK consisting of 6 one oz. packages of baby cereals. Each separate small ASSORTED PAK contains six boxes of five different cereals—two of mixed cereal and one each of oatmeal, barley cereal, rice cereal and the new high protein cereal with 35 per cent protein content. Pabulum is the first to offer this degree of variety in the baby food industry.

Saugerties C of C
To Hear Speaker
On Shopping Aids

Small store modernization and means of halting the trend of opening shopping centers outside established shopping areas will be outlined by a State Department of Commerce spokesman at the next meeting of Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce, it was announced by Albert J. Cawein, executive secretary.

Mr. Cawein reported at the regular meeting Wednesday night at the Exempt's rooms of Saugerties Municipal building that arrangements have been made for a speaker to address members of the Chamber and all merchants in the area, whether Chamber members or not.

July 4th Car Ready

The secretary reported at the meeting that the Chamber of Commerce car for the annual July 4th parade supplied by Saugerties Sales and Service will be parked at Saugerties Municipal building, "Partition street where members parading will embark."

Mrs. Marzell Roring, second vice president, reported that Kay Moose, Miss Saugerties of 1957 and her attendants, Rosemary Gatti and Marian Swart, will be conveyed in the parade in an open car supplied by Austin Simmons of Simmons Dairy.

Return post cards were sent to all members in good standing on which they must list their preferred category for the business directory being published by the Chamber. Deadline for return of cards is Monday. Those who would like additional listings on other categories must return card with the nominal fee charged for the additional category listing.

The classified brochure will list all members of the Chamber and will have wide distribution in the area among newcomers, home seekers, summer boarders and in travel aid stations.

JTB Gives Full Picture of Hand

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

South made a lot of tricks at no-trump. He started by covering West's ten of clubs with dummy's jack. It held and he led the king of hearts. East won with the ace and played the six of diamonds. South's ten held the trick and he was ready for some real operation.

He led a heart to dummy's jack and East's ten fell. Two more heart leads forced East to let go of a spade and a diamond. The ace and king of clubs were played next and East found himself in an inexorable squeeze. If he discarded a spade the whole spade suit would be good and if he discarded a diamond all the diamonds would be winners. South made six odd.

The bidding of the hand is a good example of the JTB in operation. With 11 high card points and a good five card spade suit North wanted to be in game once his partner opened a no-trump.

His two heart bid was the transfer to spades and showed at least five cards in that suit. South's two spades was the automatic rebid whereupon North jumped to three no-trump.

Savings Banks
Deposits Show
Increase in May

Deposits in the nation's 525 mutual savings banks increased $169 million during May to reach a new all-time high of $30,637,000,000, it was announced today by Charles J. Lyon, president of the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks, and president and treasurer, Society for Savings, Hartford, Conn.

The increase in May was confined to regular deposits, club and other special purpose accounts remaining unchanged. In May, for the first time this year, deposit gains exceeded those a year ago, and the month's gain was the highest for any May since compilation of monthly figures began in 1947, Mr. Lyon said.

Over the first five months, total deposits gained $611,000,000 in 1957 and $719,000,000 in 1956. Amounts deposited in regular accounts during the period were 1.4 per cent greater this year than last and withdrawals were up 2.8 per cent. Net new money received from depositors was 30.6 per cent less in 1957 than in the same five-month period of 1956, but interest-dividends paid depositors were 8.9 per cent greater.

Mortgages Increase

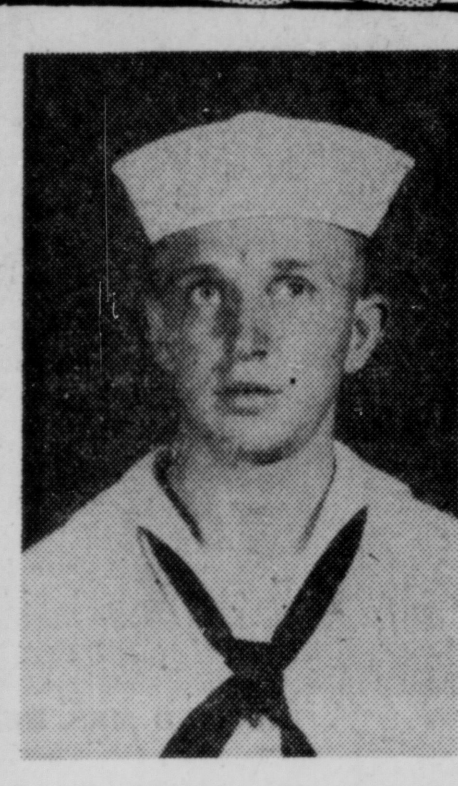

During May, the savings banks increased their mortgage holdings by $17,000,000. This brought mortgage gains for the five-month period to $662,000,000. Corporate and municipal securities during the five months increased $341,000,000, while U. S. governments fell $36,000,000 and cash declined $119,000,000. During the same five-month period last year, mortgages rose $964,000,000 and corporates and municipals increased $107,000,000, while U. S. governments fell $72,000,000 and cash decreased $137,000,000. On May 31, 1957 mortgage holdings of $20,162,000,000 constituted 58.9 per cent of total assets.

There is only one municipally owned opera house in the United States, that being at San Francisco.

WHEN ONE GIRL GOES HOME EARLY

Dear Mrs. Post: My boy friend and I and another couple planned on going to a night club on a certain Saturday night and I was looking forward to the evening. We went as planned but after about an hour my girl friend said she felt sick and wanted to go home. I saw no point in our leaving too so we stayed on and they left. My girl friend has been very cool to me ever since and I think she feels we were very unconcerned about her health because we did not leave with her. Will you please tell me if we were wrong to stay on?

If the boy she was with took her home, there was no reason why you and your boy friend had to leave too, and she has no cause to feel hurt because you stayed on after she left. Had you let her go home alone that would be another story.

Inviting Relative Who Is in Mourning to Wedding

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married in a month. Two weeks ago my cousin died rather suddenly. She and her husband were on my list of wedding guests. I am about to mail my wedding invitations and I don't know what to do about sending him an invitation. Would it be proper so soon after his wife's death?

Answer: Send him an invitation and enclose a note with it saying that you merely want to let him know when your wedding day is to be and to let him know that he would be welcome should he feel able to come.

Wedding Check to Son

Dear Mrs. Post: My son is going to be married in a month and I am going to give him and his bride-to-be a sizable check for a wedding present. I would like to know if it is necessary to give the check to the bride or may I give it to my son and tell him it is for her?

Answer: I think it would be nicest to draw the check to both John and Mary Jones and give it in the presence of both.

Details for planning your wedding are described in Mrs. Post's booklet No. 501, "Etiquette of Weddings," which includes suggestions for the announcement, ceremony, reception, clothes and expenses. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 25 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

The Mature Parent

It's Failure to Hiss in Time That Forces Parents to Bite

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Psychoanalyst Erich Fromm once told me this story about Buddha.

The Holy One was sitting in meditation one day when the Cobra came to see him. Deflating his proud hood, the snake said, humbly, "I, too, wish to recover my innocent nature. I'm tired of biting my way to safety and wish to diffuse love among the creatures of my forest instead of venom. What shall I do?"

"Stop biting them," said Buddha. The snake was deeply impressed by the reasonableness of this advice. And he departed to begin his inoffensive, loving life among his fellow creatures.

Ten days later Buddha was astonished to see the Cobra again approaching. This time he was a terrible sight. Tigers' claws had ripped his beautiful skin. Hawks had torn out one of his eyes.

Bitterly, the Cobra said: "Behold the results of your advice! These wounds are my reward for refraining from biting my fellow creatures. What have you to say now?"

Said Buddha, "I didn't tell you not to hiss."

As this legend suggests, the timely hiss of warning is essential equipment for wisely loving parents. Nearly always, it's our failure to hiss in time that forces us to bite.

For example, Eileen has decided she wants a certain green gingham skirt she's seen. We need the money she wants to pay a dry cleaner's bill. But we don't want to say so. Eileen is 14—and tends to resent any reversal of her decisions as treating her "like a baby."

So we postpone the hiss, delaying the timely, clear-cut, resisting "No—I can't afford it this week." We hope to disarm Eileen's aggressiveness by appearing kind and "loving." We say, "Maybe I can manage the $8."

On Saturday, Eileen demands the money. When we finally admit we can't give it to her, her aggressiveness becomes open assault. She says we make her sick. She says she can't wait to get out of school and start earning her own money so she'll be free of a stingy person like us.

She's so outrageously rude we can't stand it. We bite her. Into her, in our wrath, we inject the powerful venom of our opinion of her as a "bad, ungrateful, selfish girl."

Our ability to hiss effectively is our ability to detect a child's aggressiveness when he first expresses it—and to resist it before it has gotten out of hand.

Eagles and Ulster Electric Take City League Openers

Ted Marable Hands Dairymen Second Loss, 4-3 Benjamin Checks Ertels in Relief, 8-3

The 1957 City Baseball League is only three games old but strange things are happening and it seems that this could be another kind of year.

Believe it or not, there is the championship Jones Dairy squad nestled in last place, with two straight losses. Things like that just never happened in the old days.

But it happened last night at Dietz Stadium as the twilight circuit went on. Ulster Electric trounced Ertel Engineering, 8 to 3, in the opener and Kingston Eagles thumped Jones Dairy, 4-3, in the nightcap. It was the second straight one-run setback for the Joneses, another significant item not to be overlooked in a short season.

Marable Winner

Ted Marable limited the Dairy-men to seven hits and held a 3-1 lead going into the bottom of the seventh when Joneses scored twice with one out. Tom Carlino, Sal Misasi and Phil Gatti stroked successive singles but Marable got Red Hinkley on a fly to right field and fanned Karl Mains, pinch hitting for Frank Sammons. Misasi hit a home run to deep left for the first Jones tally in the third.

The Eagles climbed on Jim Uhl for three fast runs in the first inning, two of them unearned. Tommy Childs singled, Johnny Armstrong walked and Ed Kithcart bounced over one Jim Jackson's head at second and Phil Gatti bobbled it in rightfield as Childs and Armstrong scored. Kithcart reached third and scored on Hobbie Armstrong's sacrifice fly. Mel Williams' long fly scored Hardin with the eventual winning tally in the sixth. Misasi was the leading hitter with two singles and a homer. Uhl struck out 10 and Marable fanned seven. The winners had 10 hits off Fred Jenny, who pitched the distance.

Len Whitten and Joe Benjamin Jr. collaborated for a seven-inning Ulster Electric and catcher Bill Olen knocked in four runs with a single and homer to trounce Ertel Engineering. Benjamin permitted only four hits and a run in 4 2/3 innings and fanned eight to get credit for the victory.

Olen's homer was a long shot to left field. Joe Hoffmann belted a triple for the losers.

Pitcher Bob Brink won his own game with a two-run single in the last inning as the Dodgers shaded the Yankees, 7-6, in the Glasco-East Kingston Little League yesterday at East Kings-ton.

Brink's payoff hit climaxed a tremendous uphill battle which saw the Brooks come from a 6-0 deficit in the final two innings. Dodgers scored three in fifth before pulling it out in next round.

Red Sox Assign Player to Corning

Allentown, Pa., June 21 (AP)—Bob Heffner, 18-year-old high school baseball and basketball star, will join the Corning Red Sox of the New York-Pennsylvania Baseball League at Jamestown, N. Y., Sunday.

Heffner was assigned to the Class D team yesterday after he signed a non-bonus contract with the Boston Red Sox.

Heffner, a right hander, was a pitcher-outfielder-first baseman on Allentown's state champion American Legion junior baseball team in 1956 and twice was named to The Associated Press Pennsylvania all-state basketball team.

Walkless Game In Eastern Loop

(By The Associated Press)

Two opposing Eastern League pitchers kept their throws well within the strike zone last night, but one of them was sorry.

Neither Ed Dick of Binghamton nor Lev Spencer of Syracuse gave up any walks. Spencer, however, pitched three home-run balls that cost him the game.

The home-team Triplets won 4-0. They moved to within 1½ games of first place as front-running Schenectady took a 7-0 trouncing at Albany.

In the third league duel, the Reading Indians completed a perfect four-game series at Springfield with a 6-3 victory.

Dee Fondy's Eye 'Clearing Up'

St. Louis, June 21 (AP)—Dee Fondy's eye hemorrhage is "clearing up" and the Pittsburgh Pirates' first baseman may be discharged from Jewish Hospital today.

Dr. I. C. Middleman, St. Louis Cardinal Club physician, said last night a specialist will dilate the pupil of Fondy's eye and if the retina is clear he will be released.

Fondy was hit by a thrown ball in practice before a double-header Wednesday. The 333-hitting Pirate also had a broken nose and a fracture of the bone just below the eye socket.

Defends Title

GEORGE HUGHES

The 1957 Herdgen Memorial field is rated the strongest in the seven-year history of the tournament but defending champion, George Hughes, has an excellent chance to become the first repeater.

Hughes goes into Saturday's opening round at Wiltwyck Country Club at the peak of his form. He shot rounds of 65-69 in the President's Cup tourney at The Twaalfskill and followed with a 66 in the Woodstock Member-Guest. Last Monday he tied for low gross honors with a 69 in the Pro-Amateur at Van Schaick in Cohoes.

Hughes tees off Saturday at 10:06 a. m.

Trailers and Chappies Tie for Softball Lead

Havens Win in Eighth Over Bullock's, 2-0

Trailer Haven and Chappie's Taxi won impressive victories to maintain their tie for the Recreation softball league lead Thursday.

Tom Neri of Trailer Haven shut out Bullocks in a brilliant eight-inning duel with Corky Van Vliet of no-hit fame. Walt Bigler of Chappies was nipped for 12 blows by Ten Grand Tavern but hurled shutout ball after the first inning for a 10-3 triumph.

The wins were the ninth in ten games for Trailer Haven and Chappie's.

In other games, Veterans of Foreign Wars, behind Don Koepen and Don Dyson, trounced Hercules, 13 to 6, with a nine-run first inning and Krovans outlasted Downtown S&A, 19-18, with three runs in the bottom of the seventh in a game featured by 54 hits.

Why do more New York car owners insure with Allstate than with any other company?

Allstate saves money for its policyholders and pays claims promptly. Can you think of better reasons for switching to Allstate?

For five years now, Allstate has been the Number One auto insurance company in New York. Here are three reasons why:

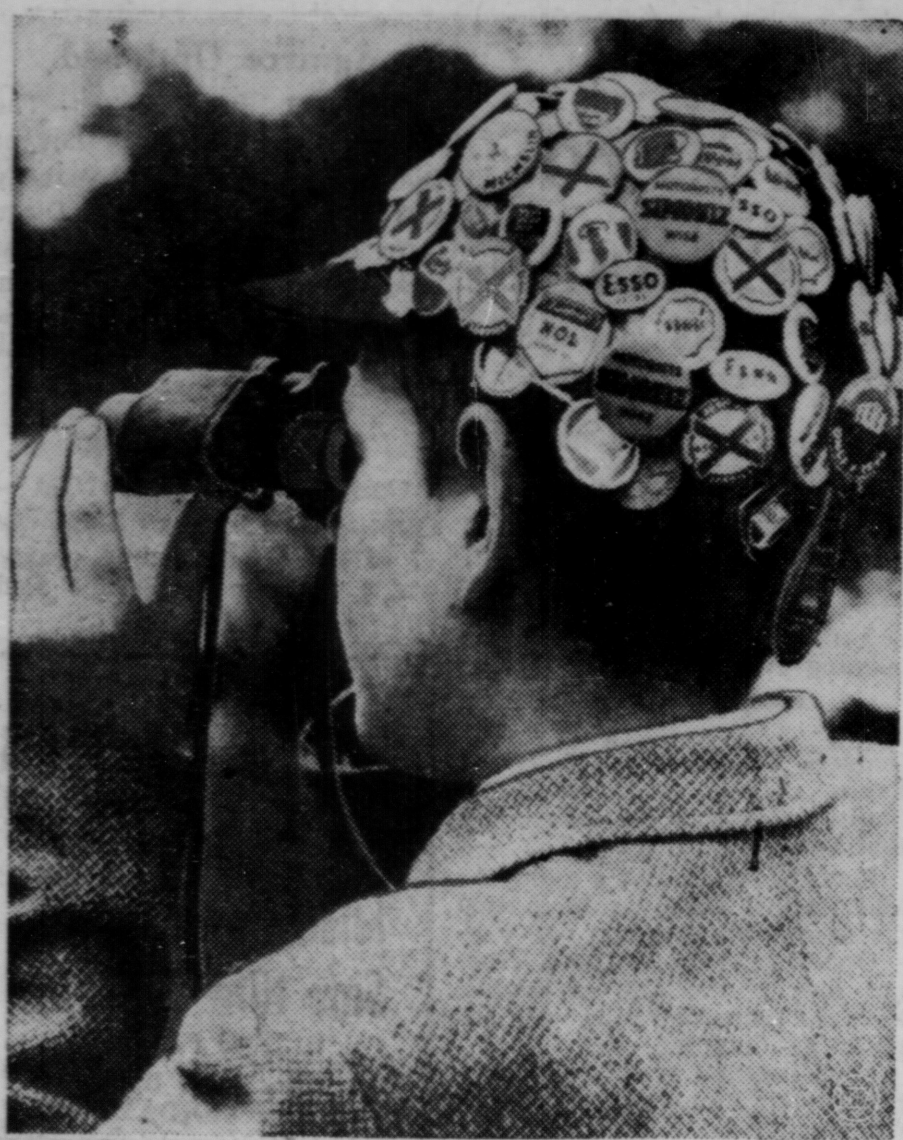

1. Allstate's low rates. Many motorists have saved $50 or more a year by switching to Allstate because Allstate's rates are lower than those of most leading companies.
2. Allstate's record of fast, fair claims settlements. In fact, many claims are settled right "on the spot."
3. The extra protection you get with Allstate. Allstate's Crusader Policy has 23 added protection features to give you the extra protection you need today.

It's Easy to Make the Money-saving Move to Allstate

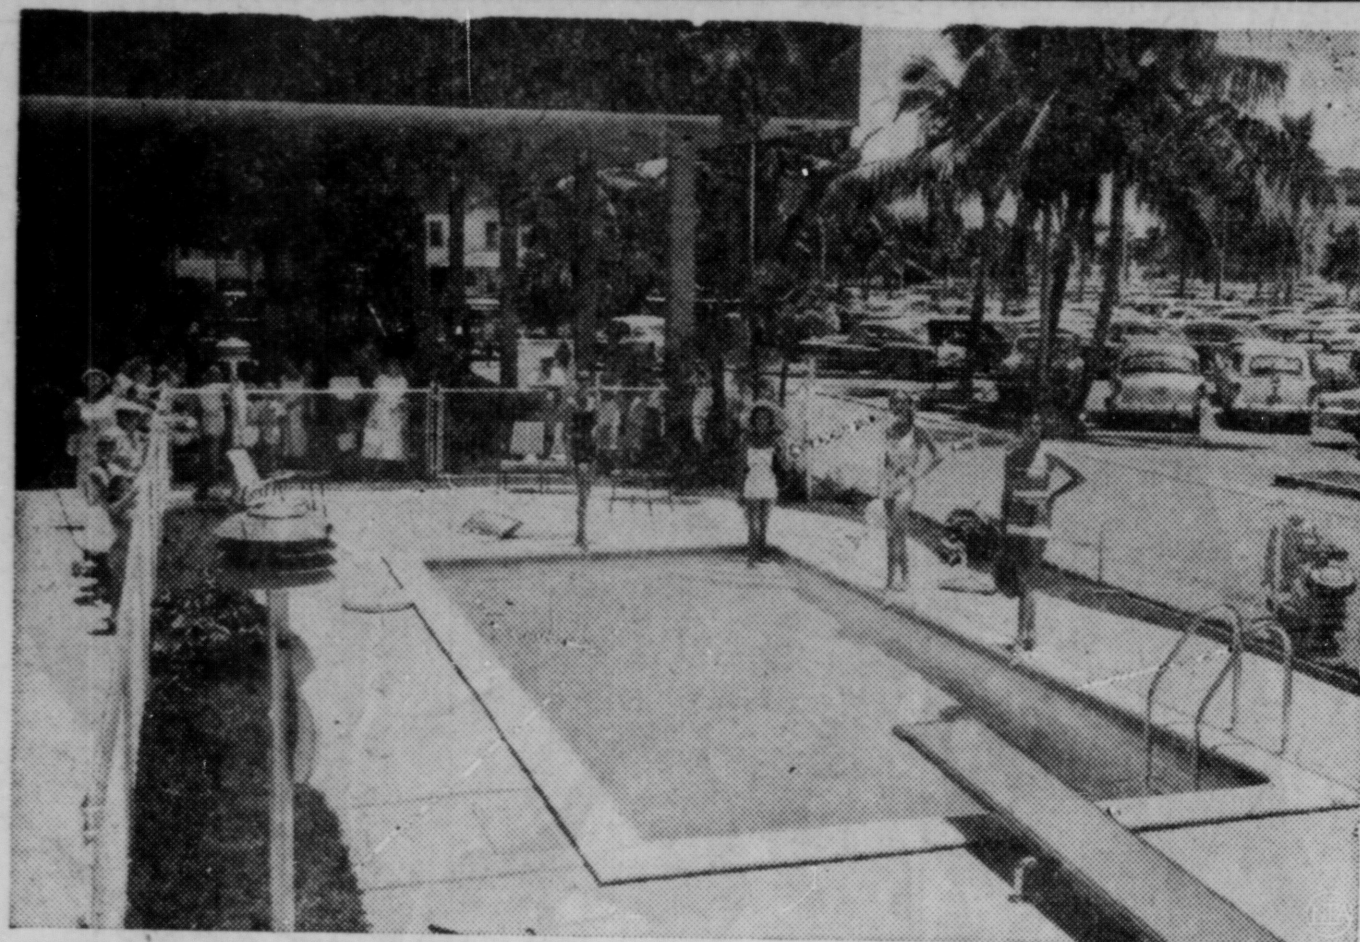

Talk to an Allstate agent. He's a fully licensed insurance expert who can show you how to protect your right to drive under the Compulsory Insurance Law while you make the change to Allstate. Call him soon.

screamed I would have been robbed. (gratefully) But how did you know he was a bandit?

Mrs. Blank—I didn't know (dazedly) I screamed when you told me what that roast was going to cost me.

Two bandits were holding up a train; one fellow, a big man, walks in at one end of the sleeping car, and a little fellow walks in at the other end of the car.

The big fellow says:

Big Fellow—Don't be alarmed; we're not going to hurt anybody; we're going to rob the men, and we're going to kiss the women.

Little Fellow—Aw, Bill, we don't want to hurt these women's feelings; all we want here is money.

There was an old maid in one of the sections, and she stood up on her feet and said:

Old Maid—Say, young feller, you shut up and mind your own business; the big fellow's robbing this train.

Terry—What is that bird? Perry—That is a magpie.

Terry—It's not my idea of a magpie.

Perry—Perhaps not, but it's God's idea of a magpie.

A Detroit night club probably didn't mean this the way it sounds, but its sign said: "Good Clean Entertainment Every Night Except Monday."

Settlement Near

Washington, June 21 (P) — The House headed today toward settlement of a dispute over making U. S. food surpluses available to Communist-dominated nations. On the outcome hinged possible completion of a 95 million dollar aid agreement with Communist Poland, and the effectiveness of President Eisenhower's promise to help any satellite nation which asserts its independence of Moscow.

Dies of Injuries

Ballston Spa, N. Y., June 21 (P) — Death today claimed a 16-year-old girl who was among 13 persons injured last night in a two-car crash. Nancy Cooke of Scotia, one of nine teen-agers who were traveling in one automobile after a school picnic, died in Benedict Memorial Hospital.

Students Must Return

Vienna, June 21 (P) — The U. S. consulate said today two University of South Carolina students who violated passport regulations by crossing into Communist-ruled Hungary must return to the United States. The consulate seized the passports of the youths, Myron A. Gilbert and Warren William Hair of Waltermore and North Augusta, S. C., after Communist police released them from nearly two weeks in a Budapest jail. The students asked that, if they are not permitted to continue their tour of the Middle East, they be permitted to go to West Germany to enlist in the U. S. Army.

Would End Big Tests

Clinton, June 21 (P) — The Presbyterian Synod of New York favors an "end to large-scale atomic bomb tests." The Synod voted a resolution to this effect yesterday at the final session of its 75th annual meeting at Hamilton College. A stronger resolution was passed earlier and then rescinded. This would have asked the U. S. government to ban the testing of all atomic weapons. The Synod endorsed the proposed merger of the Albany and Troy Presbyteries. The action is subject to approval of the church's general assembly, which meets in Pittsburgh next May.
